School Committee

Budget to ensure smaller classes

By AMY WONG

WILMINGTON- On Wednesday, February 14, the School Committee unanimously approved a budget of approximately $21.5 million for Fiscal Year 2002. The approval came with one stipulation, which is that Superintendent of Schools Geraldine A. O'Donnell asks Town Manager Michael Caira to review the amount and possibly increase the level of funding, specifically around the issue of full-day kindergarten.

Superintendent O'Donnell and Administration and Finance Director Kevin Mahoney presented specific budget recommendations to the committee, focusing on several areas of priority: class size reduction; MCAS preparation; technology; and literacy early detection and intervention.

To reduce elementary education class sizes, the budget calls for adding a second-grade teacher and a half-time special education teacher at the Shawsheen School; a fourth-grade teacher at the North Intermediate School; and a health and physical education teacher for grades one through three. Also, given the increased enrollments, another priority item is to obtain additional textbooks and materials for several classrooms at the Shawsheen, Woburn, and North Intermediate schools.

To assist in Middle School class reductions, the budget includes adding a seventh- and an eighth-grade teacher; two unified arts teachers, which would allow for the expansion of the world languages programs at the sixth-grade level and then transition it to the elementary level; an eighth-grade half-time foreign language teacher; a separate language-based class, which would include both a teacher and an aide; and a special education inclusion teacher.

Efforts to reduce class sizes at the high school would include adding a mathematics teacher and a science teacher, who would expand the existing science program by offering a needed physical science course.

The budget provides for further MCAS preparation in several ways, including the addition of an English teacher; an elementary math program for grades K through three; and the adoption of high school textbooks, which would provide instructional materials for new and existing courses directly aligned with the MCAS.

The committee also approved funding for a new program coordinator of guidance, who would conduct test analyses in development of curriculum, identify students at risk and follow up on those high school graduates who attend college.

In addressing the issue of technology in the schools, the committee agreed to fund 25 new computers for both the Shawsheen and Woburn Street Schools; 16 new computers at both the North and West Intermediate Schools; and three new computers for the high school library.

Finally, in support of literacy early detection and intervention, the committee voted to add two elementary education reading specialists for the Woburn Street and

A BIRTHDAY SALUTE. Wilmington resident Karl Meuse celebrated his 78th birthday at the Sun Bridge Nursing Home on Wednesday, February 7. Muese served America as a Marine during the Korean War. Making Meuse's big day all the more memorable was the gifts that he received from fellow Marine and Commandant Bob Cochran (above, left) and past State Commander Joe Steen, of the American Legion Post 136: a red Marine Corp. hat, a Korean War Service Medal, and, of course, a tasty birthday cake. Diane Martin, who works at the nursing home, was instrumental in making Meuse's birthday one to remember. (Courtesy photo)

Building inspector under fire

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Selectman Michael McCoy has issued to Town Manager Michael Caira a formal complaint against Wilmington Building Inspector Dan Paret. Selectman McCoy is alleging that Building Inspector Paret has shown favoritism in his business dealings and should be investigated for misconduct and abuse of authority.

At the February 12 Selectmen meeting, Selectman McCoy attempted to bring before his fellow board members what he believes to be considerable abuses of power taken by Building Inspector Paret. Under the category of "new business," McCoy began outlining his concerns relative to his claims that Paret has been practicing favoritism throughout the community. He was silenced, however, when his comments were deemed inappropriate and out of order by Chairman Michael Newhouse.

"My issue is not with the land owners," McCoy stated in reference to a few locations on Lowell Street where he feels Paret has crossed the line. "My issue is with the building inspector, and I need to elaborate on a few things."

McCoy got no further than what was to be his first item of interest, which he alleges were the questionable circumstances surrounding the building of the ATM that replaced an old tee-shirt shop that was once situated in the center of Lucci's Plaza on Lowell Street.

"I don't mean to interrupt you," said Chairman Newhouse, "but if you are going to comment on specific actions taken by the building inspector, then I am not sure that this is the appropriate way to do it."

Selectman James Rooney seconded Newhouse's thoughts on the matter, suggesting that perhaps an executive session held by the selectmen would be the most appropriate way to proceed.

McCoy begged to differ, asserting that he was "absolutely" addressing the issue in the appropriate manner.

"The bottom line is that there are problems relative to the decision-making made by the building inspector," said McCoy. "I know that you take the opposite approach and support (him), but I feel that as a member of this board I have every right at this meeting to speak out about exactly what I believe to be misconduct in this community."

Newhouse remained firm.

"If you have a complaint about the performance of a department head, then that ought to be brought through the Town Manager, and, if necessary, through a hearing where the employee has an opportunity to be heard," said Newhouse.

McCoy continued to try and make his case, but in moments he was again stopped short before he could cite specific examples that he felt would reinforce his claims against Paret.

"This is out of order," said Newhouse. "This discussion is not going to continue."

Within seconds, Chairman Newhouse, Selectmen Rooney and Daniel Wandell voted to adjourn the meeting. Selectman Robert Cain was absent from the meeting.

McCoy contacted the Town Crier to say that he thought it was unfair that he was not given an opportunity to speak.

"At the last Selectmen meeting, Mike Newhouse let Jim Rooney go on and bash the Chief of Police, yet I bring up one point about the building inspector, and I get shut down," says McCoy. "It goes to show you where Michael Newhouse stands."

McCoy may not have appreciated being denied the opportunity to make his case, but he did decide to take Newhouse's advice: The next morning, he formally registered a complaint with Town Manager Michael Caira, alleging the practice of favoritism by Paret and urging Caira to conduct a thorough investigation of him.

"Dan Paret is not protecting and enforcing the town's zoning by-laws," McCoy says.

Town Manager Caira, Selectmen Chairman Newhouse and Building Inspector Paret were not available

Local man convicted of tax scheme

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - A Wilmington man has been found guilty of devising and carrying out a tax scheme related to under-the-table wages for the employees at their company in Woburn.

Paul Buonopane, of Wilmington, and Robert Buonopane, of Peabody, ages 55 and 65, respectively, could face up to five years in prison for the scandalous tax plans they implemented at B & B Acoustical Contractors, Inc. in Woburn. The two men could also be faced with a fine as steep as $250,000.

United State Attorney Donald K. Stern announced last week that the Buonopanes were convicted after a six-week jury trial in which 29 counts were brought against them. Among those counts: charges of conspiracy to defraud the Internal Revenue Service; conspiracy to commit mail fraud; aiding and assisting in the presentation of false payroll tax returns; and mail fraud directed at the company's workers' compensation insurance carriers and the Massachusetts Carpenters' Union.

The evidence used in the trial was gathered between 1992 and 1997 and was used to support allegations that the Buonopanes conducted an under-the-table wages scheme in which $460,000 in payroll was hidden from the company's aforementioned payroll service, the IRS, the workers' compensation insurance carriers and the Massachusetts Carpenters' Union.

The money scammed allowed the men to save substantial amounts of employment taxes, insurance premiums and contributions to the union fringe benefits that the company owed. The losses included $250,000 in contributions to such

Asphalt plant hearing cancelled

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - A hearing that was scheduled to be held at the Board of Appeals meeting on the night of Thursday, February 22 has been cancelled.

The subject at hand was to be a possible additional asphalt plant that had been proposed for construction in the vicinity of Benevento's Sand and Gravel on Route 62 in Wilmington. The exact proposed location would have been 900 Salem Street.

However, according to Attorney Robert Peterson, who represents the Beneventos, the application for the asphalt plant has been withdrawn.

According to Assistant Planning and Conservation Director John Keeley, since the once-proposed plant was planned for a location in a groundwater district, a special permit would have been needed.

The decision of the Beneventos to withdraw the application for the special permit is likely to be received as good news by many neighbors in the area. In the past week, the Town Crier has received letters from readers, who have outlined such concerns as traffic and surrounding smells and urged their fellow residents to attend the now-cancelled hearing.

BROADWAY BOUND. Jazz singer Cassandre McKinley, who has recorded two CDs and has sung at Foxwoods and Boston's premier music club, is a Wilmington native whose first live performance was before her classmates at the North Intermediate School when she was a child. In the future, she hopes to perform on Broadway in New York City. To learn more about McKinley, you can visit her website, www.cassandremckinley.com. (Courtesy photo)

Meet Cassandre McKinley - - you know, the girl who sings

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Like the wings of a songbird, the energetic and soulful voice of Wilmington native Cassandre McKinley has carried her far, from the North Intermediate School, where as a student she first sang before an audience, to Foxwoods in Connecticut and to Scullers in Cambridge.

"I started mouthing off very early in life," jokes McKinley, who now lives with her husband and daughter in Hopkington. "I was always singing and making faces in the mirror when I was young. My first real singing performance was when I was a seventh grader at the North Intermediate School. I wasn't a popular girl then, but when my classmates heard me sing I suddenly became 'Cassandre - you know, the girl who sings.' I was happy with the identity."

It would be an identity that McKinley would carry with her all throughout high school and on to the Boston Conservatory of Music, where she studied singing and dancing and acting while auditioning for commercials and modeling jobs in her free time.

"At one point I left school and began to make plans to move to New York," she says. "Musical theater was the perfect career choice for me, so Broadway would be my new home."

Then she met her future husband, Stephen Angelis, a talented man who worked in the graphic arts industry, once played lead guitar in a few bands, currently operates and owns his own recording studio and, says McKinley, makes a "mean grilled cheese." Head over heels, she knew that she wasn't going to go to New York. Instead, she set her heart on succeeding with a jazz career in Boston.

The years of hard work have paid off. In January, McKinley gave a performance at Scullers, the premier venue for jazz in Boston and one of the most notable spots for such music in New England.

"Performing at Scullers was an amazing experience," recalls McKinley. "I was a bit intimidated leading up to the gig, so preparation was key. Once I stepped on stage, though, I felt at home. I felt no nerves because I was confident that the best musicians were behind me. I lit up like a Christmas tree!"

Herb Pomeroy, one of the city's most respected trumpet players, was one of those musicians who was providing the rhythmic instrumental backdrop to McKinley's silky vocals. McKinley says that a pro like Pomeroy made it possible for her to feel comfortable on stage before an audience of discerning jazz enthusiasts.

"He is part of what made me feel totally cool up there," McKinley recalls. "His presence on stage made me and the boys in the band work harder and give one of our best performances. The energy was intoxicating."

McKinley's gig at Scullers provided her with an opportunity to celebrate many of the songs that she has recorded on her two CDs, "Right in Front of You," which was her debut, and "Stay the Night." The former began as a writing project, in which a close friend had composed a few jazz instrumentals and she offered to create and sing

Wilmington Election Update

Build-up of candidates slowing down

WILMINGTON - There are not any new developments to report about this year's Town Election races, but, in the interest of staying up to speed here is a quick rundown of who is running for what.

• BOARD OF SELECTMEN. Two three-year seats are available on the board. Nine candidates have their eye on the prize, but to date only four of them have made their run official by handing in their nomination papers: Scott Garrant; Raymond Lepore; Daryn Marsh; and Robert Palmer. The remaining five candidates who are still out collecting the fifty required signatures for their bids are: Stephen Costa; John Goggin; Mark Nelson; incumbent James Rooney; and Frank West.

• SCHOOL COMMITTEE. Three three-year seats on the School Committee are up for grabs on Election Day. To date, the three incumbents whose seats are available are the only candidates to have taken out nomination papers: Suzanne Cushing; Joan Duffy; and Chairperson Stephen Peterson.

• HOUSING AUTHORITY. One five-year term is vacant on the Housing Authority, and so far only Charles Fiore has taken out nomination papers for his bid to take up residence on the board.

• REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY. One five-year seat is available, but no one has picked up nomination papers for this position just yet.

• REGIONAL VOCATIONAL TECHNICAL SCHOOL COMMITTEE. Incumbent Robert Peterson remains to be the only candidate to take out nomination papers in his bid to keep his three-year seat on the committee.

Are you contemplating a run for town office? There's still time for you to jump in the game. You can pick up your nomination papers at the Town Clerk's Office at the Town Hall at 121 Glen Road any time between now and Friday, March 2. Fifty signatures from registered Wilmington voters must be collected in order to be eligible to run for any of the offices available. Nomination papers must be handed in to the Office of the Registrar at the Town Hall by Friday, March 16.

The Annual Town Election will be held on Saturday, April 21.

Tewksbury Election Update

It's official: The list of this year's candidates is complete

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

TEWKSBURY - The deadline to pick up nomination applications for this year's Town Election, collect fifty signatures and return them to the Town Clerk's Office came and went at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, February 20.

Once the Town Clerk's office checks the validity of the signatures, the candidates' names are ready to appear on the election ballot in April.

Four competitors will be vying for the two 3-year term seats available on the School Committee: Joseph E. Russell, of Charles Street; Melanie Sitar, of Chandler Street; incumbent Ed Dick, of Cleghorn Lane; and Dennis J. Peterson, of Bridle Path.

Incumbents Joseph Gill, of Ellington Road, and Charles Coldwell, of Kendall Road, are being challenged by Edward B. Giardina, Jr., of Baldwin Street, for the two available 3-year term seats on the Board of Selectmen.

Incumbent Frank Sweet, of Longmeadow Road, is being challenged by Dom Germano, of Germano Drive, for the one available 5-year term seat on the Planning Board..

Joan M. Dunlevy, of John Street, Mary R. MacDonald, of Wellington Circle, Karen Lu, of Whittemore Street, and Jan Sutton, of Heritage Drive, are competing for the one available 2-year term and the two available 3-year term seats on The Board of Library Trustees.

Rape Aggression Defense Class offered

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Police Department has announced that it will be sponsoring a Rape Aggression Defense Class for women beginning Wednesday, March 7. The class will be held on each following Wednesday until completion on March 29. The classes will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. For women only, the classes will be held at the John Wynn Middle School on Victor Drive.

The Rape Aggression Defense System is a program of realistic self defense tactics and techniques for women. The R.A.D. System is a comprehensive, women-only course that begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and risk avoidance, while progressing on to the basics of hands-on defense training. R.A.D. is not a martial arts program. The courses are taught by nationally certified R.A.D. instructors and provide each student with a workbook/reference manual.

This program is part of the Tewksbury Police Department's Community Policing Initiative, and its ongoing efforts to reach out and positively enhance the lives of all citizens. For more information, contact the Tewksbury Police Department, 978-851-7373 ext. 146. It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

Give Away Your Retirement Fund?

There can be real tax advantages leaving your regular IRA (not a Roth) or other retirement assets to a charity and leaving other assets to your heirs. The key: retirement funds are subject to income tax when they are distributed, and the other funds are not. Your estate gets credit for the charitable deduction–and neither charity nor heirs will have to pay income taxes on the money.

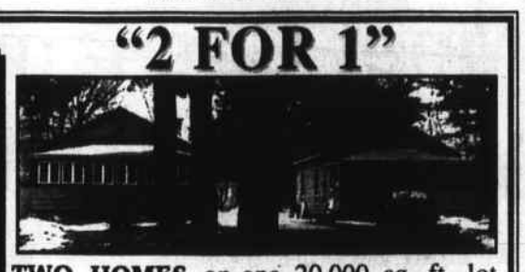

When an IRA goes to an individual, there may be double taxation on the funds: income taxes on the IRA distribution and estate taxes on the amount over the unified credit (still $675,000 this year.)

The easiest way to leave retirement funds to a charity is to setup a separate IRA with the charity as sole beneficiary. While you are alive, you can add funds or withdraw them as you wish. If you want your spouse to have the money, it can be rolled over into his or her IRA without incurring income tax. Then the spouse can name the charity as beneficiary for the same advantages.

Smart giving can benefit you as well as help the charity. We'll show you how at

Here at the Town Crier we receive many letters from residents in Wilmington and Tewksbury who are opposed to a lot of proposed construction in the works.

Two more office buildings that are proposed to be built on West Street have worked up the ire of neighbors who find great danger in the blasting that will be needed to be done and tremendous disappointment in how the developments would compromise the historical value of the area.

As you can see across this page, the proposed transfer of land at Tewksbury State Hospital to a private developer has stricken one resident as an unjust and unprecedented use of open space that could "further destroy our quality of life."

Plans for a new asphalt plant on Route 62 in Wilmington have inspired area residents to rally against a project that would increase the number of trucks that already pass by their houses and would intensify the already-unpleasant smells that are pungently pushed through the neighborhood.

Recently, rumors that a major corporation was inquiring about building a mega-mall in Tewksbury elicited battle cries from good ol' fashioned Yankees itching for a fight.

At the Wilmington Selectmen meeting on February 12, Chestnut Street residents made known in droves their grievances with the gridlocked traffic clogging their neighborhoods in the wake of the construction that led to the completion of the Miceli Bridge in the center of town.

On the surface, it might appear that residents in both communities are fighting against the inevitable traffic headaches and construction noise that threaten to inconvenience the ease with which they move about their neighborhood. However, a common thread seems to be firmly stitched into all such complaints, underscoring a building disappointment and sadness with which people are beginning to view their home towns.

It is clear that the people of Wilmington and Tewksbury are patriots, simultaneously demonstrating a pride in their country and a love for the towns in which they grew up and now live. Change is inevitable, but never easy, and, indeed, a lot of hearts seem to be breaking from the impending transformations of fields into tarred lots, historical homes into office buildings and beloved mom-and-pop restaurants into powerful name-brand chains.

Public hearings are frequently held, so that residents can attend and make known their thoughts on various projects around town. Citizens are often heard, but, judging from the letters we receive and the things we hear, they do not feel heeded.

It seems that people in both communities are beginning to feel that, more and more, the landscape around them is beginning to reflect the Americana in their hearts less and less.

TOWN CRIER NEWS NOTE: At the last minute as this paper was going to press the attorney for the proposed asphalt plant informed the Town Crier that the application is being withdrawn.

Letters To The Editor

This "voter" applauds O'Donnell's efforts for full-time Grade K

Dear Editor:

Thank you to Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell for her attempt to once again implement full-time Kindergarten.

Superintendent O'Donnell's vision of starting with a pilot program, largely funded with state grant money, looked like a great way to slowly phase in the need for full-time Kindergarten.

Unfortunately, the School Committee feels differently.

A line item in the Fiscal Year 2002 budget had an appropriation for approximately $5,000 to implement this pilot program, with the additional funding coming from state aid. This $5,000 could have led the Town of Wilmington to receive up to $200,000 in state aid during the next several years and help move toward expanding this program.

Studies have shown that full-time Kindergarten is a big part of early childhood development. Within the next few years it may even be mandatory in our school system. I fully understand that when that day comes, it will impact the school budget significantly. However, the fact remains that we can't sit back and be reactive with education. We should be proactive.

When you talk about costs, how about the costs of holding back children in grades one through three? The cost of keeping that child within the school system for another full year also puts a strain on the budget. If children are identified earlier as being at risk, then they can be helped quicker. As a result, maybe fewer children would need to be held back.

Maybe the next time that a line item is voted on, the School Committee can take a roll call vote so that parents, who are also known as the voters, are aware of how each member voted.

Resident Kelley: Morris and fellow trustees "overstepped" authority on Hospital land transfer

The following letter is one written by Tewksbury resident Robert F. Kelley to Richard Morris, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Tewksbury State Hospital. It was sent to the Town Crier for the purpose of publication.

Dear Mr. Morris:

Promoting affordable housing is a just and noble cause; however, the proposes transfer of public hospital land to JDS Enterprises is fraught with problems that need to be investigated and adjudicated.

I appeared at your February 13th public meeting because you did not respond to my letter of January 22nd. I asked for a spot on the agenda to speak with the Board of Trustees. Your outright refusal last night to put this topic on the March meeting's agenda is disturbing to me as a citizen of the Commonwealth, and it is an affront to the residents of Tewksbury. Furthermore, your oral response that this transfer was now out of the board's hands is nothing more than a cop-out. Your board initiated the transfer idea and your board can also rescind it.

As trustees of public assets, your board has certainly overstepped its authority.

The following facts speak for themselves as to what a scam your board and JDS Enterprises, with the tacit approval of our State Senator and State Representatives, are hoisting on the Town of Tewksbury:

- The transfer of land to JDS Enterprises was not open to a public bidding process.
- Neither parcel of land has been appraised to determine its true economic value.
- Title for the land on East Street does not rest with JDS Enterprises.
- JDS stands for "John D. Sullivan," who is the brother of David Sullivan, the Vice Chairman of your board.
- John D. Sullivan is also Chairman of the Tewksbury Zoning Board of Appeals, which decided that there would be no public hearing on this land development scheme.
- As proposed, the 15-year requirement for affordable housing is in violation of law.
- This transfer of public open space directly to a private developer is unprecedented.

Wasn't it shady for deals like this that the Ward Commission was created?

Where are the watch dogs?

Why was there no public input? Chapter 40B requires public agencies, limited dividend or nonprofit organizations proposing to build low or moderate income housing to file a single application with the local Board of Appeals. It seems apparent that the transfer's proponents want it to slip through beneath the public's radar screen. However, meaningful opportunities for local board and residents to be heard must occur to discuss whether the proposed development is consistent with Tewksbury's resources and needs.

I sincerely hope that you will reconsider my request to appear at your next meeting in March. I expect to be joined by other concerned citizens who are equally opposed to the transfer. Our ultimate goal is to educate the citizens on how this deal is a bad one for Tewksbury and to urge Beacon Hill to remand jurisdiction of this surplus hospital land to state agencies whose primary focus is to preserve and protect open space.

Mr. Morris, the battle for this land is not over. The will of the people must prevail when an injustice such as what you and your cronies contrived is allowed to happen. The people of Tewksbury have had enough and are tired of the rhetoric and radio silence coming from our elected and appointed officials.

I sincerely hope and remain confident that more people will wake up, let their opposition to this sweetheart deal be known, and finally stop the Sullivans and other builders from further destroying our daily quality of life.

Sincerely,
Robert F. Kelley

Galipeaus grateful to Tewksbury Hospital for "friendship and care" that was provided for loved one

Dear Editor:

We recently lost our daughter to complications from MS. She had been a patient at Tewksbury Hospital. We would like to publicly acknowledge the wonderful and loving care that she received there.

Since reading about a "patient protest" at the Hospital, we would like to say that we visited our daughter almost daily and never witnessed "an inattentive staff" or "filthy conditions." Before she was admitted there, our family had visited other long-term care facilities and spoke to patients and health care workers. Yes, a few others were "prettier," with flowered wall paper and matching curtains and so on, but we never witnessed the high level of care that we saw at the Tewksbury Hospital.

We realize that no one place is perfect, and I'm sure that there are some areas that could be improved upon, but it seems truly unfair to the dedicated health care workers to headline such a protest.

Please print the following letter that we have also sent to the staff on Unit C-3 at Tewksbury Hospital:

Dear Friends:

The family of Joanne (Galipeau) Gazzara would like to extend our heartfelt appreciation to the dedicated doctors, nurses and health care workers in Unit C-3 at Tewksbury Hospital.

You provided a home for our daughter/sister for the past 18 months, where she was able to establish friendships and participate in activities while receiving the care that she needed.

You were so compassionate to our family during these trying times. The love and tender care that you extended to Joanne brought her comfort and dignity during her final days. Joanne's family is eternally grateful to you.

Sincerely,
Henri and Yvette Galipeau and her family:

More trucks on Route 62? "I don't think so."

Dear Editor:

As if you don't have enough trouble backing out onto Route 62 or trying to enter from Woburn or Andover Streets or Thrush Road, now they want to build another asphalt plant at Beneventos sand and gravel pit.

This would mean twice as many dump trucks racing back and forth in the summer, spring and fall.

We already have cement trucks and Big Dig trucks and mail trucks and trailers delivering to supermarkets and malls. They all use Route 62.

One takes his life into his hands trying to get out of his driveway. How many of you have had a truck race up to your car's rear end and sound his air horn if you have the nerve to go in front of it, even if the truck is 100 yards away?

Now we need more trucks? I don't think so!

Please attend the Board of Appeals meeting in room 9 at the Wilmington Town Hall on Thursday, February 22 at 7 p.m.

Thank you,
Betty and Paul Doerfler

Knowing The Unknowable

Some people take it on faith that, when death approaches, they will be able to fathom its mystery. Why, they reason, should this final act be any less explainable than other life events? The final irony is that only by dying can one come to know what it means to undergo this final transformation. As one of the faithful, Indian poet/philosopher Rabindranath Tagore posited, "Even so, in death the same unknown will appear as ever known to me. And because I love this life, I know I shall love death as well. The child cries out when from the right breast the mother takes it away, in the very next moment to find in the left one its consolation."

It is comforting for many to think that just as the meaning of life becomes ever more clear as we age, so the mystery of death will become clear at the moment we enter into it. At Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, we hope that you will call us to assist in your funeral needs. We are always ready to answer your many questions.

Mr. Arsenault worked for years at Mancini's Restaurant before it was recently torn down to make room for the McDonald's that will be built there. Cassandre McKinley sings some lyrics to go with them. The latter, she says, just sort of fell into her lap.

"With 'Stay the Night,' I was eager to do a CD of smooth and mellow standards that jazz fans already know and love," she explains. "My second CD was an impromptu performance with only bass and drums that inspired the minimal instrumental settings. It's a very sensual CD."

Two of McKinley's favorite songs to sing are "Sincerely," which captures her feelings for her husband and strikes a chord with those in love, and "On a Clear Day," which won her over when she first heard jazz great Clay Osborne perform it with heartfelt dedication and a strong connection to his listeners. Ultimately, though, McKinley's favorite song is one known and loved by people who may not know a lot about jazz, but do have fond memories of a lost little girl, her three colorful friends and a certain, winding yellow brick road.

"To me, 'Over the Rainbow' pretty much sums up my childhood fantasies of being a star," says McKinley. "It's a song that reminds me of what it is like to be a kid - - imaginative, simple, trusting. It not only makes me think of my relationship with my mother, but its meaning has magnified since the birth of my daughter."

One day, perhaps, it will be McKinley's young daughter who grows up and sings "Over the Rainbow" to her.

"My daughter has the lungs of Pavarotti," McKinley coos, shifting from gifted singer to proud mother. "She is really knowledgeable about music. When I ask her what she wants to be when she grows up, she tells me that she wants only to be 'a singing doctor' who cares for her patients by drawing pictures of them and cleaning their teeth while tap dancing."

In other words, she plans to be as diverse in the arts as her mom.

Just as McKinley is proving to be an inspiration to her daughter, so too have countless notable musicians sparked an interest and love in her for lyrical beauty and vocal prowess.

"My mom could name each and every one of my influences," says McKinley. "She introduced me to all of them. As I child I listened to all of her favorites, which soon became mine. Later on, through my brothers, my dad, my husband and my friends, I also found that I liked a wide range of music that brought out something in me."

Who are her favorites? Get ready for a parade of beloved artists and groups who have provided the soundtracks to the memories and romances of many lives: Cat Stevens, Kenny Loggins, Stevie Wonder, Al Jarreau, Kansas, Styx, The Beatles, Eric Clapton, Billie Holiday, Miles Davis, George Benson, James Taylor and Judy Garland, who, says McKinley, "encompasses the whole entertainer persona."

Ultimately, though, McKinley's parents, whom she frequently mentions in conversation, seem to rank alongside her husband and daughter as the strongest of positive influences.

"She has worked very hard," says her father, Ralph H. Burpee. "She has a lot of talent that has yet to be thrust upon the jazz community. She's not afraid of hard work. She has taken the tools that God has given her, and she has put them to good use."

Burpee is proud of his daughter, who he says is not afraid of hard work. Underscoring his praise for his daughter is the satisfaction parents feel when their hard work helps introduce to the world a unique and vibrant talent.

"Without my partner here at home," he says of his wife, Arlene, "none of this would have happened."

It is McKinley's hope that one day she will be mentioned in the same breath as the artists listed above. With her voice leading the way, she has been building the blocks of her artistic success since the days when she was a little girl, taking summer walks from her home in Wilmington to Elia's Country Store and dreaming up her big plans on the way.

Soon, McKinley will be taking her music to Europe, where jazz is the forefront of the industry there. She is also setting her sights on the Big Apple again, where, she says, the jazz scene is steep and competitive in that "there are ten singers for every taxi cab."

Ultimately, though, McKinley hopes to travel the globe, striking the delicate balance between soothing jazz-loving ears from around the world and working with her husband to raise their daughter and prepare her for her gig as a singing, tap dancing, drawing, teeth-cleaning doctor.

Says McKinley, "Wherever we are, as long as we'll be together, that will be our home."

Through it all, running through her hopes and dreams and plans like an indispensable thread, will be the soft melodies and finger-snapping toe tappers that will shape her voice and stir the souls of those around her.

"Singing is a gift," McKinley says. "It is the opportunity to tell others what is in your heart. It is the chance to open the hearts of those who listen to you. Sometimes, looking within is not easy because it can be painful or it can be joyful. It's a wonderful experience."

Concludes McKinley, "Through my singing, I hope to help people to look within."

for comment.

The interlude detailed above barely consumed four minutes of what was the longest Selectmen meeting in recent memory, but the topic at hand may prove to be one that reoccurs and grows hotter in the weeks to come.

"I'm going through protocol here," McCoy says. "I'm giving the town manager a chance, but the conclusion of his investigation doesn't end there. I can bring this situation to the next level, which would be the State Ethics Commission."

Concluded McCoy, "I will bring this issue up at every upcoming Selectmen meeting."

Disabilities training to be offered in March

WINCHESTER - In a continuing effort to educate the public to the communication and architectural access needs of people with disabilities, the Massachusetts Office on Disability will co-sponsor, along with the Winchester Commission on Disabilities Issues, Medford Commission on Disability, National MS Society: Central New England Chapter and the New England ADA Technical Assistance Center, a two day community access monitor training on the regulations of the Architectural Access Law and the Americans with Disabilities Act on March 7 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and March 8, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Winchester Town Hall.

This is part of an outreach program of the Massachusetts Office on Disability designed to provide training on the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act and on how to monitor a community's efforts in providing the greatest access to its agencies, organizations, and businesses. Those who choose to become volunteer community access monitors will be responsible for on-site assessments and documentation of the communication and architectural accessibility of buildings and programs which are open to the public, such as libraries, recreation facilities, restaurants, shopping centers, hotels/motels and supermarkets.

State and municipal facilities must comply with the architectural access codes that apply to all buildings newly built or renovated after 1974.

The Americans with Disabilities Act mandates that public accommodations (restaurants, hotels, theaters, shopping centers, museums, etc.) be accessible to people with disabilities; it requires all programs, activities, and services of state and local governments to be accessible; it prohibits discrimination in places of employment and has many provisions to ensure the availability of accessible transportation.

Lorraine Greiff, acting director of the Office on disability observed "This seminar is part of a public awareness program designed to break down the still existing barriers which prevent the disabled residents of Massachusetts from enjoying a full, productive life."

The Office on Disability is the state agency charged with bringing about full and equal participation of people with disabilities in all aspects of life. It works to assure the advancement of civil rights and for full opportunities for people with disabilities.

For further information on the training session and participation, contact the Office on Disability, 800-322-2020 or 617-727-7440 V/TTY.

Coats for Kids draws 1089 coats to Anton's Cleaners' in Wilmington

WILMINGTON - Residents of Wilmington and surrounding towns came together this holiday season and donated 1089 coats toward Anton's Cleaners 6th Annual Coats for Kids program at Anton's Wilmington location.

This year's drive, cosponsored by WFXT-TV (Fox 25), the Boston Bruins, the Salvation Army, and Massachusetts Community Action Programs (MassCAP), received a total of 32,234 coats at Anton's Cleaners' 39 locations in eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. This amount exceeded the 25,000 coat goal that was set and is also a 17.6 percent increase over last year's total.

"We are proud to see this community contribute so much to a great program," said Charles A. Anton, president of Anton's Cleaners. "It's a good feeling to know we have helped thousands keep warm this winter."

Local schools such as the Trahan School, the Boutwell School, Wilmington High School and Shawsheen Elementary put forth a significant effort toward this year's drive. The number of coats given by these local schools totaled 928.

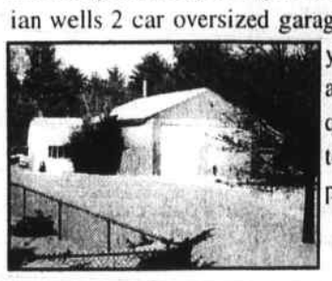

All coats have been cleaned by Anton's stores as a community service and given to the Salvation Army for distribution. The estimated value of cleaning all the coats that were donated this year is $263,674.

This is the sixth year that Anton's Cleaners has participated in the Coats for Kids program. Each year, the number of coats that are collected increases significantly. Since the start of the program in 1995, the number of coats that have been collected amounts to 93,531.

Anton's Cleaners is based in Tewksbury and now has 40 stores in eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. It has been a family owned business since its first store opened in 1913.

Coats for Kids draws 725 coats to Anton's Cleaners

TEWKSBURY - Residents of Tewksbury and surrounding towns came together this holiday season and donated 725 coats toward Anton's Cleaners sixth annual Coats for Kids program at Anton's Stadium Place location in Tewksbury.

This year's drive, co-sponsored by WFXT-TV (Fox 25), the Boston Bruins, the Salvation Army and Mass. Community Action Programs (MassCAP), received a total of 32,234 coats at Anton's Cleaners' 39 locations in eastern Mass. and southern N.H. This amount exceeded the 25,000 coat goal that was set and is also a 17.6 percent increase over last year's total.

"We are proud to see this community contribute so much to a great program," said Charles A. Anton, president of Anton's Cleaners.

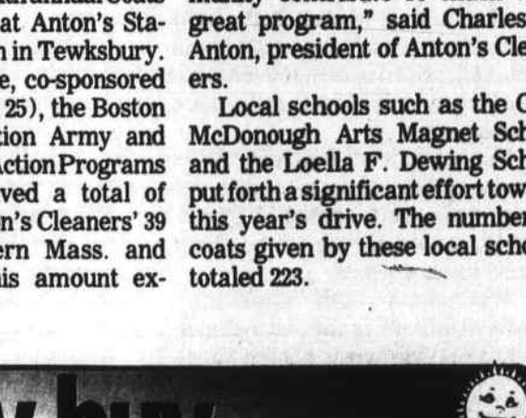

Local schools such as the C.G. McDonough Arts Magnet School and the Loella F. Dewing School put forth a significant effort toward this year's drive. The number of coats given by these local schools totaled 223.

All coats have been cleaned by Anton's stores as a community service and given to the Salvation Army for distribution.

This is the sixth year that Anton's Cleaners has participated in the Coats for Kids program. Each year, the number of coats collected increases significantly.

Anton's Cleaners is based in Tewksbury and now has 40 stores in eastern Mass. and southern N.H. It has been a family owned business since its first store opened in 1913.

Choosing the high school classes that lead to success

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - It's that time of year again. High school students are lining up to talk to their counselors about next fall's classes.

If you want to make sure your student is ready for education beyond high school, here are recommendations from ACT, makers of the college entrance exam, the ACT Assessment.

It's never too early to think about college preparation. Choices made as a freshman and sophomore could affect choices for the rest of the student's life. By selecting a strong academic program in high school, the student is preparing well for college. In fact, the ACT, used for college admission by almost all U.S. colleges and universities, measures what the student has learned in high school to estimate how well he or she is expected to do in college.

Most college admissions professionals say the courses a student takes in high school and his or her grades are the most important pieces of information in considering college admission. Grades and courses show the student's potential and work ethic.

ACT has a recommended list of high school courses that students can use as a guide for planning their choices. Be sure to check with the colleges and universities of interest to compare the requirements. The ACT minimum recommendations are:

English: four years

Mathematics: three years (algebra and higher level math)

Natural Sciences: three years, with lab experience

Social Studies: three years

Foreign languages: two units in the same language

Additional courses: visual arts, music, theatre, drama, dance, computer science.

A student's chance of success in college is greatly enhanced by taking rigorous courses in all subjects, especially in math. Research from ACT shows that students who take more math classes are better prepared for college than other students and score higher on the ACT overall.

For more college and career planning information, visit www.act.org.

Lyver receives Coast Guard Medal

TEWKSBURY - Coast Guard Chief Warrant Officer Paul M. Lyver, son of Margaret M. Lyver of South Street, Tewksbury and a 1971 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School, recently received his second Coast Guard Commendation Medal while assigned to the Seventeenth Coast Guard District, Juneau, Alaska.

While serving as station manager, Lyver upgraded the facilities of Coast Guard stations in Juneau and Ketchikan, Alaska. His efforts improved the stations' readiness and helped the station set a Coast Guard-wide record of only five deficiencies during a standardization team inspection.

As auxiliary operations training officer, Lyver established Auxiliary Station Seward, which was Alaska's first auxiliary station. He outfitted the district's 35 operational facilities with proper lifesaving and towing equipment, significantly increasing the district's inventory of available surface resources. Lyver also initiated a fuel reimbursement program that is being reviewed for nationwide adoption.

The Coat Guard Auxiliary is the civilian volunteer arm of the United States Coast Guard. Thirty-five thousand men and women donate their time and expertise to support the Coast Guard and improve boating safety.

OUCH! DID YOU GET YOUR GAS BILL?
We may have a solution to your problem.

Dear Customer,

Now would be a good time to let the utility company buy you a new furnace and even air conditioner. I don't know about you, but I just got my heating bill...OUCH! Home heating costs are up as much as 60%. The cost of heating your home with gas has risen significantly in the last few months due to several factors that are beyond your control. However, there is a way to reduce your cost this winter without spending your hard earned cash, and without major renovations to your home.

Let the Utility Company Buy You a New Furnace

If you're presently heating your home with a furnace that is over 10 years old, you could be paying over twice as much on your utility bill as you should be. There have been technological breakthroughs in furnace design, which when installed properly in your home will reduce the amount you pay the utility company by $40, $50 or more per month.

Sure, your 10, 15, or maybe even 20-year old system may still be working...but is it working efficiently? The money you are overpaying the utility company every month could be paying for a new, efficient system!

Right now you can actually replace your old (and probably very inefficient) furnace and air conditioner as a package for at least $922 less than you would have to pay at any other time. That's our breakeven price.
Let me explain...

My Problem is Your Opportunity

Every year the months of January and February "Kill" my business. I lose a ton of money during these "Killer" months and it takes me the remaining ten months each year to make up for them. And I'm looking for the same thing to happen this year.

I've decided to give up trying to make a profit during these "Killer" months. If I can only minimize my losses during January and February I will come out ahead the other ten months.

With our discounts and rebates (which could be as much as $922) and the utility savings with a new system, this is an incredible offer.

Here's How

Call R.H. Young Cooling & Heating at 978-663-8875 anytime. We will have one of our Comfort Specialists come out and measure your home to determine the proper system size for maximum efficiency.

Wildcat wrestler Marc Sollazzo a ...

Division 3 State Champion

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

State Champion.

Those two words have filtered through the mind of Marc Sollazzo each and every day for the past four years. Everyday at practice, his sweat poured off his forehead onto the mat so he could become a state champion. Those days in the off-season going to camps and the Bay State games, and just working out on his own to stay in shape so he could become a state champion.

Everyday Sollazzo walked into the Wilmington High gymnasium and glanced up at the wall. He'd see a wrestling flag with the names Billy Tate and Pat Heffernan on it. Everytime he saw it, he'd wonder what the feeling would be like after winning a state wrestling championship.

On Saturday night, he found out what that feeling is like. Sollazzo became the third wrestler at WHS to bring home a Division 3 state championship title when he defeated Matt Newton of Wayland, 3-0, in the 152-pound weight class. His match highlighted yet another incredible day for the team which finished sixth overall as a team in the two-day Division 3 state meet held at Wayland High School.

After catching his breath, after getting congratulations from his family, friends, coaches and teammates, Sollazzo was exhausted after his title match. His head was hurting, his shoulder was hurting, but all of that was OK for the time being. He's a state champion.

"I really can't believe this," he said. "But, I feel like a million bucks."

Head coach Mike Pimental has been on board for all three state champions and he said after watching Sollazzo win that all three of his grapplers have a special place in his heart.

"They all have their moments of excitement," said Pimental. "None of them outweigh the others. But I think all three have given me a heart-attack. Billy Tate was on his back in the first five seconds and he won, 12-5. Pat Heffernan won his match with 2.5 seconds left. And Marc waited until the last ten seconds to clinch his victory. I think they're trying to keep me on my toes."

Sollazzo and Newton faced each other seven days earlier in the Division 3 North Sectional finals. Sollazzo won 7-4. Sollazzo came into the states as the top seed. He pinned his first three opponents at 1:13, 1:57 and 5:11 to advance to the finals where he met up with Newton again.

"I was trying to make sure that Marc didn't overlook [Newton]," said Pimental. "I told Marc that [Newton] would want to beat Marc really bad especially after last week, plus it was at his home gymnasium. [Newton] was going to be at a totally. different level of intensity and I was hoping Marc would raise his [level of intensity] and he did."

Sollazzo said that he had to come into the match thinking that Newton wanted to celebrate a state title of his own in front of the home crowd.

"I knew last week that he's a tough kid," said Sollazzo. "And I knew this match would be tougher because he knew my moves.

"Before the match I was pretty confident that I could beat him. Once I got out there I tried to play it cool. I was trying to avoid him throwing me in a headlock because that's his strength. But once I got thrown out of bounds in the first period I was worried because I had re-injured my rotator cuff. But now for some reason it doesn't hurt anymore."

Just 24 seconds into the match, Sollazzo and Newton went flying out of bounds, and Sollazzo stayed out of bounds instead of meeting back in the center of the mat. The trainer came out and so did the Wilmington coaches. Sollazzo had re-injured his shoulder which he hurt a few weeks ago. He shook it off and got back into action, but it was obvious he was in a lot of pain.

The two wrestlers proceeded to wrestle and continued to lock up, but neither could really get a good hold on the opponent. The first period ended scoreless.

Sollazzo won the toss after the first period and deferred, and Newton elected for bottom. But during that two-minute stand-off once again neither wrestler could get any points or get the opponent on his back. The second period ended scoreless again, and the dramatic third period was set to begin. This time Marc choose down and that helped him win the match.

Sollazzo was able to get up and escape Newton for what became the winning match point.

"I'm sure that I got that escape point," he said.

Over the next 90 seconds, Newton countlessly tried to shoot at Sollazzo, who used his head very intelligently. Sollazzo was very quick, putting his hands out and denying Newton the shoot, while Sollazzo took a step back each time and bent his knees to get strength to keep Newton off him. Wayland's coaches were telling Newton to get Sollazzo in a headlock as fast as possible so he could possibly get Sollazzo on the mat for a few back points. That didn't happen. The two wrestlers continued to fight for an advantage. As the seconds were ticking down in the match, Sollazzo was able to take down Newton for two additional back points with about six seconds left.

"I tried to hold him down as long as I could," said Sollazzo. "I knew that [Newton] was weak on bottom so if I wanted it bad enough I could hold him down. This was a real tough match. My head's killing me. I knew I had to hold him off in that third period. I couldn't let him in.

"I didn't want to shoot either because he could have backed off, spun me around and put me on my back and I would have lost, 2-1. But [in the final seconds] I decided to shoot because I was near the out of bounds area so if he happened to put me on my back, I could have squirmed out of bounds."

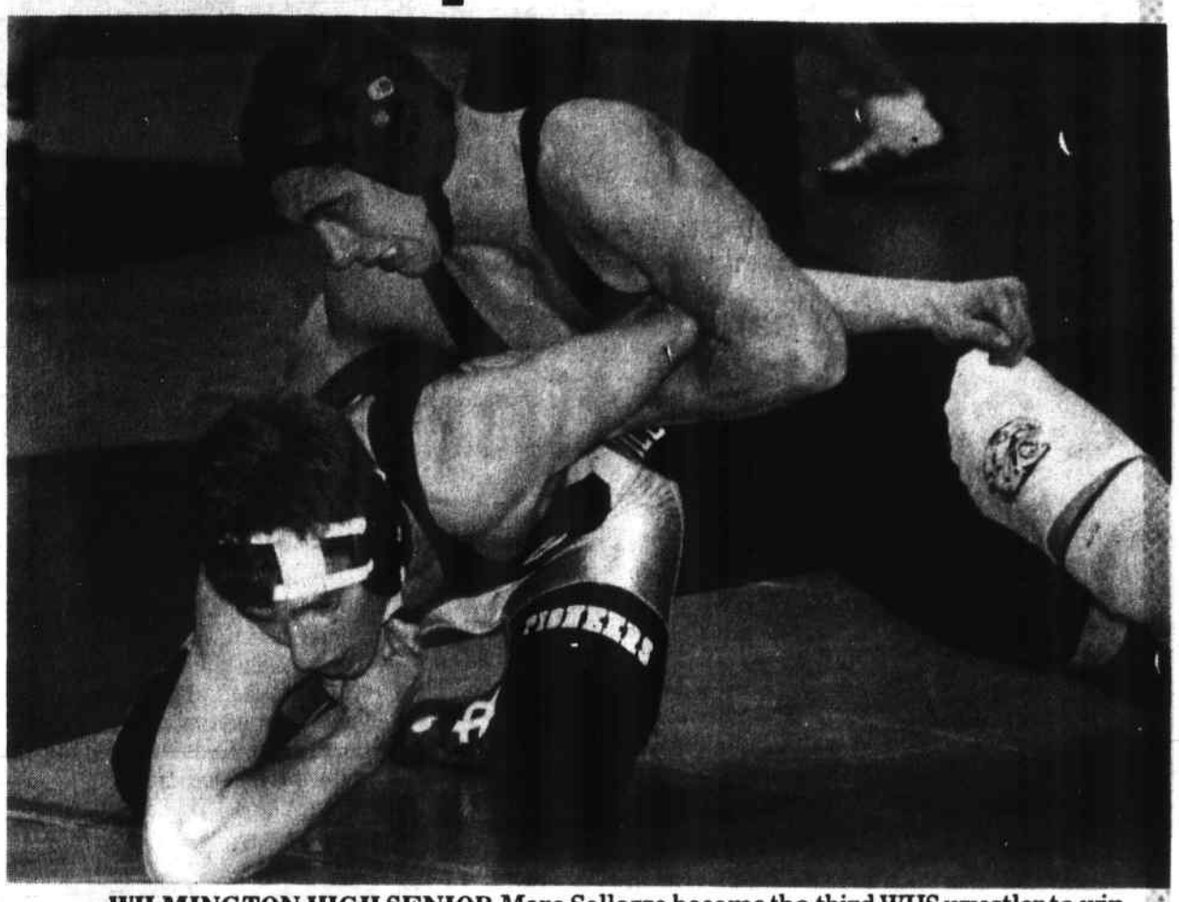

It took Pimental a few minutes to get over his emotional stage after watching Sollazzo reach new status. Once he did that he gathered his thoughts.

"Towards the end of the season, Marc was on a roll and the way he focused before every match was incredible," said Pimental. "He'd shake off countless number of injuries and he was so determined to get this. What he has done this season is outstanding. He's the only Wilmington High School wrestler to win every tournament. He won the Mount Anthony tournament, the Sons of Italy tournament, the Georgetown tournament, the Haverhill tournament, he's a two-time Cape Ann League champion, then he won the sectionals and now he's a state champion.

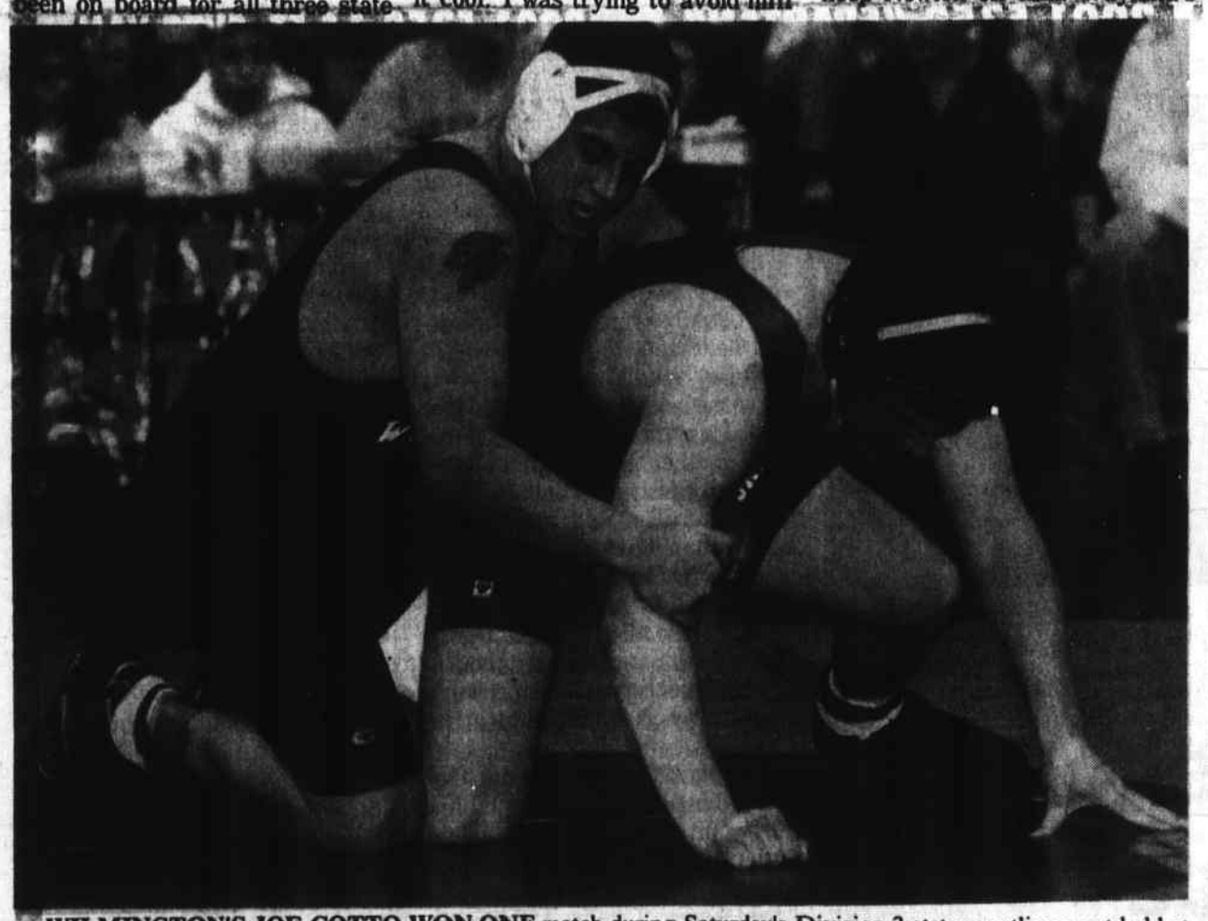

"He's 37-3 right now with 27 pins. He's one pin behind tying Pat Heffernan's all-time record of pins in one season. I can't say enough about Marc - his hard work and determination are the reasons for his tremendous success this season and his career.

"I'm so, so happy for him."

This Saturday, Sollazzo's season will continue when he will wrestle in the all-state meet to be he held at Franklin High. The all-states feature those top four wrestlers (in each weight class) from all three divisions of the state meet to meet for one day of wrestling. It begins at 10:00 am.

Wrestlers finish sixth in Division 3

By JAMIE POTE

It has been a broken record over the last few weeks, yet again the Wilmington High wrestling team made program history this past weekend.

On Saturday night, they concluded the two-day Division 3 state tournament with its best finish overall, sixth. Wilmington had one state champion in Marc Sollazzo, while, sophomore Derek Hanley took third, Chris Minghella and Pete Reitchel took fifth, and Justin Strem, Sang Ngo, Roman Walsh, John McMahan, John DiPasquale and Joe Cotto all represented Wilmington with tremendous dignity.

Wilmington finished with 82 points, which was 102.5 behind Foxboro who won the state title for the third straight season and five of the last six years. Wayland, Mount Graylock, Southwick Regional and Tyngsboro rounded out the top five, while, Wilmington finished ahead of Rockland, Weston, Lynn Classical and Canton to round out the top ten.

Obviously the highlight for Wilmington was Marc Sollazzo winning a state title (see more on the front page), but having ten wrestlers participate in the tournament and four of them placing is truly the highlight.

"It's the best finish we've ever had," said coach Mike Pimental. "This season has really been something. To have ten guys here and four of them place ... that's something the team should really be proud of."

Justin Strem wrestled at 103 and he was one match away from placing. He finished at 2-2.

"Every tournament Justin ran into the same two or three guys who he couldn't get away from," said Pimental. "But he really came on at the end of the season. I thought he was outstanding [at the states]. He got a taste of it. He's a little sparkplug for us. He's very aggressive and determined."

At 112, Chris Minghella really stormed back and made some noise.

"Chris had a not so pleasurable sectional tournament that we had hoped for," said Pimental. "He came here as an alternate because the Westford kid couldn't make it, and he lost the first match only to beat the sectional champ from Southwick and beat a kid from Quabbin who beat [Minghella] in the sections. Chris did very well."

Minghella took fifth place overall. He got pinned in his first match at the 2:53 mark, but won his next three matches, two by pins. He got pinned and then won 7-1 for fifth place.

"I'm ecstastic," said Minghella. "The last two years I've been here

A telling tale of Marc Sollazzo

By JAMIE POTE

Just six weeks ago, I wrote a simple fun column of the top ten things I'd like to see in the world of Wilmington sports for the 2001 year. One of them was to see another high school wrestler become a state champion ... perhaps Marc Sollazzo.

Well it didn't take a genius to figure out that Sollazzo had a serious shot of doing it, so I'm not patting myself on the back since this Saturday he was crowned the 152-pound Division 3 state champion. I think the pats should go to same whenever I talk to him - whether it's a hello in the parking lot or to ask him a few questions for some quotes. And there's nothing wrong with having that personality because you realize how genuine this teenager is, and will be for the rest of his life.

I say that he's different because very rarely do I get to meet such a determined, focused hard working high school athlete such as Sollazzo. Certainly every high school athlete works their tails off ... and I can't say that Sollazzo outworks every athlete because that's unfair. But Sollazzo. After all it didn't take a lot of hard work on my part to hope that he'd become a state champion, but it was a lot of hard work to become a state champ.

MARC SOLLAZZO

Marc Sollazzo is a different athlete than what I'm accustomed too. He's a quiet kid, a confident kid and certainly a very nice, mature gentleman. He's not the life of the party type, well to me anyway. He's the watch this kid for several minutes and you realize just how much he has put into his last four years of his life to become a state champion.

After winning 3-0, Sollazzo shook his opponent's hand, got his own his raised in victory. He didn't show up his opponent. He walked to the Wayland coach shook his hand, shook the assistant's hand, and darted to the Wilmington coaches Mike Pimental and Pete Mitchell. Sollazzo had a big smile on his face and jumped into them in celebration. The celebration wasn't big, but he celebrated the ultimate goal he's been striving for since he walked into the program as a skinny, undeveloped, inexperienced freshman.

Sollazzo really isn't the emotional rah-rah type. But the telling truth came when he walked off the mat and into the corner of the Wayland High gymnasium. After flipping his headgear off, one by one his teammates and friends hugged him, shook his hand and patted him on his head or his back. His father came over, with the biggest smile on his face, shook his son's hand and said "I'm so proud of you." His mother came over, and they embraced in a celebratory hug. His younger brother came over to shake his hand.

Those few minutes is what makes special occasions like this so special. Here's a kid who doesn't showboat his athletic abilities, he just gets the most of them. That's what is so different about him.

Fifth title in six years

'Cats continue to rule CAL

By JAMIE POTE

During pre-season head coach Steve Scanlon predicted that Masconomet would win the Cape Ann League. Maybe he said that because he thought they had the best team coming back. Or maybe he said that to get his team wound up to go out and prove something. In either case, they proved a lot whether or not Masco won the league or finished last.

Masco didn't win the league, in fact those pesky Wildcats did. For the third straight year and the fifth time in the past six years Scanlon's team won the league title. Last Thursday they handed Amesbury a 7-2 shellacking to win it outright.

"We're ecstatic," said Scanlon. "We've had a great year. We've really had a good year. We had a lot of guys pick up their play especially with some of the injuries we've had. The kids did a good job. They are hard workers and very unselfish."

And that perhaps started with day one of practice.

"Masco was my pick," said Scanlon. "They had all of their players back and we lost quite a bit. We had some questions early on but we answered them fairly quickly."

Wilmington and Amesbury battled last Thursday and the 'Cats needed a win or a tie to win the league outright and Amesbury needed a win to be co-champs with Wilmington. The two teams battled to a scoreless tie against the first period, but the 'Cats scored five unanswered goals in the second frame. The first line of Geoff Ferreira, Mike Whitney and Dan Liberty got things going with the first two goals and the fifth one, while, Brian Velardo and Brent Holloway nailed the others.

Amesbury scored a goal late in the second period, but Whitney and Dave Hanley scored the third period goals. The game ended 7-2 and Wilmington continued its dominance in the Cape Ann League since its arrival: five league titles in six years.

The thing I like most about this team is when they needed to step up they have," said Scanlon.

Wilmington started off a little shaky but then put together an unbeaten streak of 11 games. They were at 11-1-1 and after beating Amesbury, they lost to Tewksbury 4-2 Sunday night in the first round of the annual Newburyport Bank Classic Tournament. They have one game remaining against either Triton or Danvers Wednesday night while his paper is being printed, but down the home stretch with a much tougher schedule, Wilmington finished 3-3-1, with two of the losses coming against Division 1 Tewksbury (14-2-2).

They faced the Redmen on Sunday and for the second time lost 4-2.

"It was a pretty good game," said Scanlon. "I thought we played pretty well, much better than the first time we played them. We had a couple of penalties and a couple of deflections [on their goals] but we burned up a lot of energy in the first period killing off all of the penalties we got."

Wilmington led 1-0 as Ferreira netted home a goal from a pass from Velardo 5:32 into the game. Tewksbury tied the game up when Ryan Fitzmaurice scored on a set-up from his brother Bob and Scott Favreau.

Tewksbury's Rich Enos gave the Redmen a 2-1 lead, but Mike Montalto tied it up with an unassisted goal with 2:21 left in the second period.

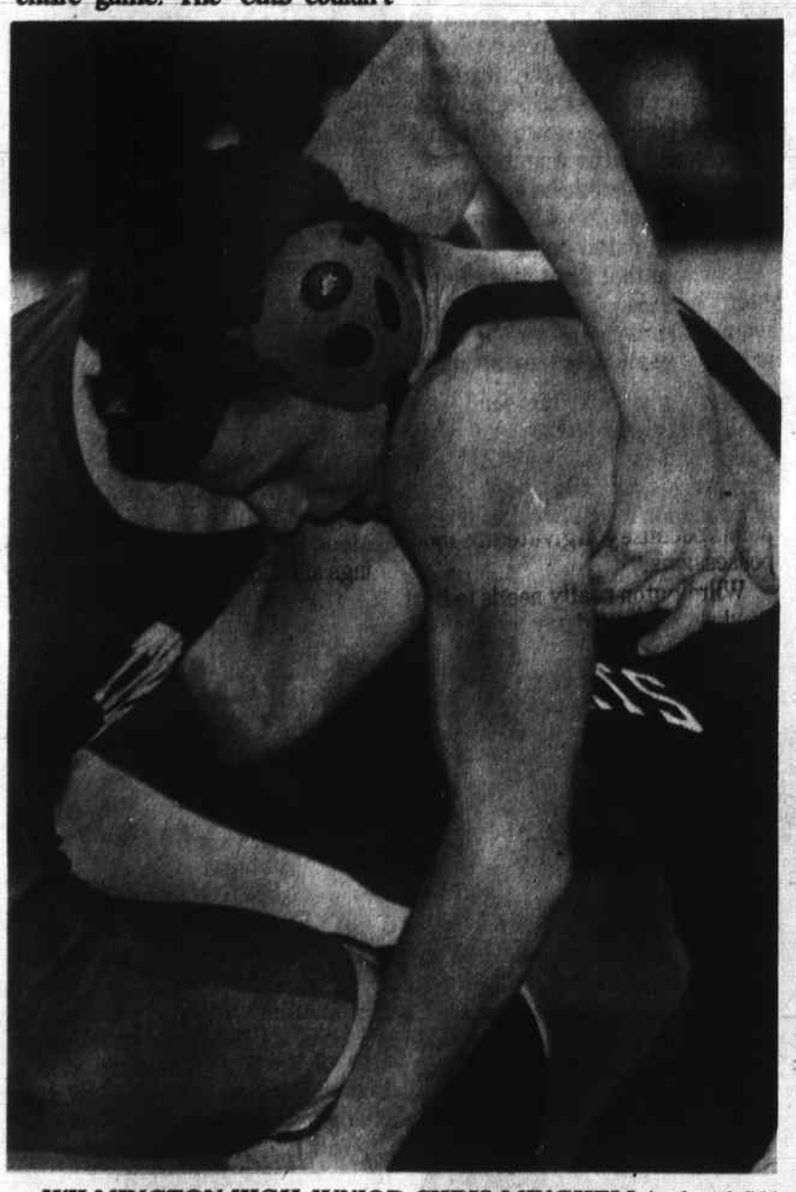

Enos and Kevin Leonard added third period goals, both power play goals within the first minute of play and that was the game.

"Wilmington came out as we expected," said Tewksbury coach Bob Ware. "They outplayed us early on, outshot us and outmuscled us. But [goaltender] Billy Fabiano kept us in the game himself with 14 first period saves. The last time we faced them they had 15 total shots in the game. He kept us right in this one."

Scanlon said that the pairings of the tournament probably won't be announced until next Monday or Tuesday and Wilmington most likely won't play until March 3 or 4. Last year Wilmington lost in the sectional semi-finals to Lynnfield, despite totally outplaying them the entire game. The 'Cats couldn't muster much past their goaltender Dave Geary.

This year's tournament will have plenty of strong teams including Boston Latin (if they are seeded in the North), Saugus and reigning state champions Duxbury from the South.

Next week we'll preview the state hockey tournament.

Wrestlers take third place

I went 0-2. The last two years everything I tried to do wasn't working. I think I was able to put it all together [here at that states]."

At 119, Sang Ngo, a sectional place finisher, lost both of his matches in a very tough weight class. At 125, Pete Reitchel ended his career with a solid performance.

"Pete has by far the toughest weight class," said Pimental, eluding to Bobby Lewis of Foxboro and his four state titles. "[Reitchel] won his first match and then faced [Lewis] and he's very tough. After that Pete did very well with three more wins to finish fifth. Pete finished a great season and he's very deserving of the accomplishment. It shows just what hard work can do. He was devastated after his second loss but this entire team is very proud of him."

Roman Walsh continued his terrific season with a win in the states. He win came inbetween two tough losses, 2-0 and 3-1. At 135, sophomore Derek Hanley had a little deja vu. At the sectionals he beat Damian DiGiovanni of Wayland in the final, 2-1 in double overtime, because Hanley won the flip. On Saturday the same exact thing happened when the two of them hooked up for third/fourth place.

"The same thing," cracked Hanley. "It just took me a little bit longer [to get an escape point to win it] this time."

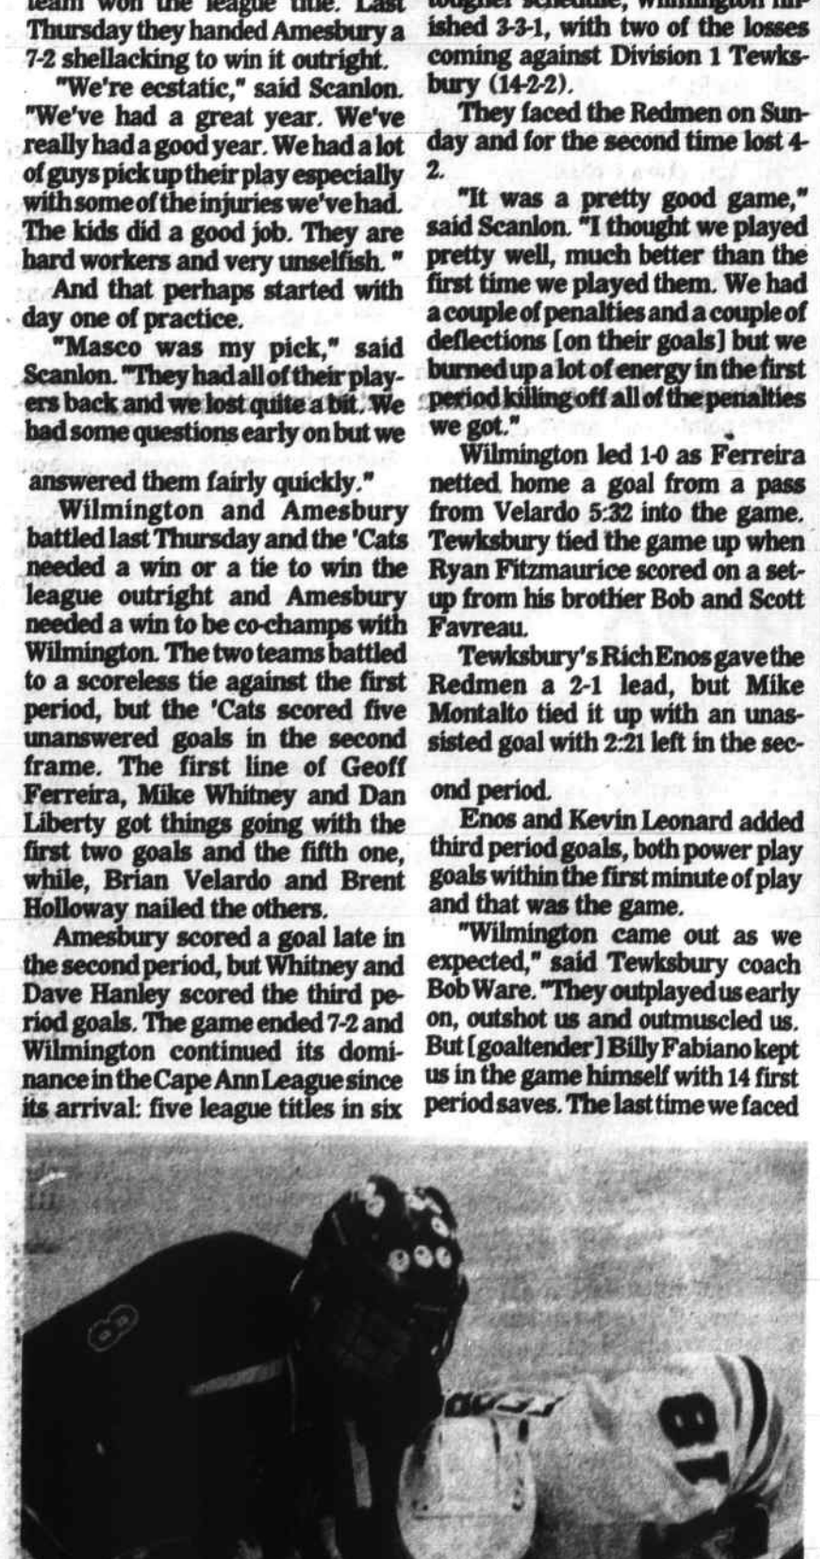

Before that Hanley won his first two matches before losing to Curt Despard of Southwick, who took second.

"I'm not disappointed," he said. "[Despard] was better than me. You're always disappointed when you lose [but being here makes up for that]."

Said Pimental, "Derek's third place finish is the highest place by any sophomore throughout the program's history. He wrestled very well in his loss, he lost to the kid who took second. But Derek did very well. He ends the season with an 40-5 record - that's tremendous."

Tri-captain John McMahan wrestled tough but lost his two matches, as did John DiPasquale at 171. Finally Joe Cotto was one match away from placing and Pimental was thrilled with his efforts.

This upcoming weekend both Sollazzo and Hanley will participate at the all-state meet which will begin Saturday morning at 10:00 am at Franklin High School. If either of them finish in the top five in their respective weight classes they will advance to the New Englands the following weekend in New Hampshire.

Gillespie, Rufo and Calway shine at state meet

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington High will send three athletes to the All-State indoor track championships this weekend, following successful performances at the Class D championships held at the Reggie Lewis Arena in Roxbury on Saturday.

Qualifying for the All-State meet – where the best runners from classes A, B, C and D compete – were seniors Kim Gillespie and Chris Calway, and sophomore Michaela Rufo. They earned their tickets by finishing in the top five in their respective events at the Class D meet.

Gillespie qualified for the All-States in two events, the high jump and the 600 meters. She placed second in the 600 meters - - the highest she had ever placed in a class championship – with a time of 1:43. Her previous best was a ninth place finish in the 300 meters at last year's class meet.

Gillespie also qualified in the high jump, finishing in fifth place with a jump of 5 feet.

One of the Cape Ann League's top high jumpers, Gillespie was forced to sit out the event for three meets earlier this year, while she was battling back problems. She returned to the event earlier this month at the state relays, where she and teammates Michaela and Becky Rufo finished first with a combined jump of 14 feet inches.

Michaela Rufo also earned an All State berth in the 600 meters, finishing fifth with a time of 1:45. Michaela's top five finish was unusual, because the top seeded runners are grouped into the first heat, and she was running in the second heat.

According to coach Kara Kane, Michaela won by a split second, barely edging out a Triton runner at the finish line to qualify for the final spot on the All State squad. It was payback for Michaela, who had lost to the Triton runner only a few days earlier, on the same track, at the Cape Ann League championships.

"Usually (runners) in the second heat don't qualify, it was a surprise," said Kane.

For the boys team, Chris Calway leaped a personal best 6-1 to finish third in the high jump. Calway, who also finished seventh in the 55 meter hurdles, had not jumped higher than 6 feet all season.

Coach Dana Sweet expects Calway will have his work cut out for him at the All State meet, where the high jump starts out at "about 6-2." But Sweet expressed confidence that Calway could finish high in the standings.

"He missed 6-1, 6-2 in a couple of meets this season, but I don't think 6-2 is out of sight for him," said Sweet. "I could even see him jumping 6-3, you never know."

Said Sweet: "Like I tell (Calway), sometimes if everyone has a bad day, you can win on a jump at a lower height, anything can happen."

Kane also expects tough competition at the All State meet. The high jump starts with the bar set at 5-2, a height Gillespie hasn't cleared all season; meanwhile, Gillespie (the second best runner from Class D) is seeded 20th, and Rufo 25th in the 600 meters.

Also competing in the Class D championships were seniors Mark Jepson (5.8) and Josh Hiltz (5.9) in the 55 meter dash. Calway, who qualified in the high jump, finished seventh in the hurdles. Sweet expected Calway, the reigning Class D champ in the outdoor track 300 meter hurdles, to qualify in the 55 meter hurdles, but said afterwards that Calway is more suited to the longer outdoor race.

"It's a little tougher indoors (for Calway), the indoor race requires more of a sprinter type," said Sweet. "He does better in longer distances."

Becky Rufo, recently named the Cape Ann League athlete of the year, placed eight in the 1,000 meters (3:14.3), and finished out of the top five in the high jump (4-10), and Michele Lemos finished out of contention in the 300 meters with a time of 48.4.

Ashley Veator (8.13) and Stefany Quinton (8.23) each did better than expected in the 55 meters, both were seeded 40th, but beat the odds as Veator finished 21st and Quinton finished 28th.

The Lady 'Cats also qualified two relay teams, the 4x200 meter team of Quinton, Lemos, Veator and Katherine Chin (1:58, 9th), and the 4x800 team of Becky and Michaela Rufo, Gillespie and Melissa Marques (10:36, 7th).

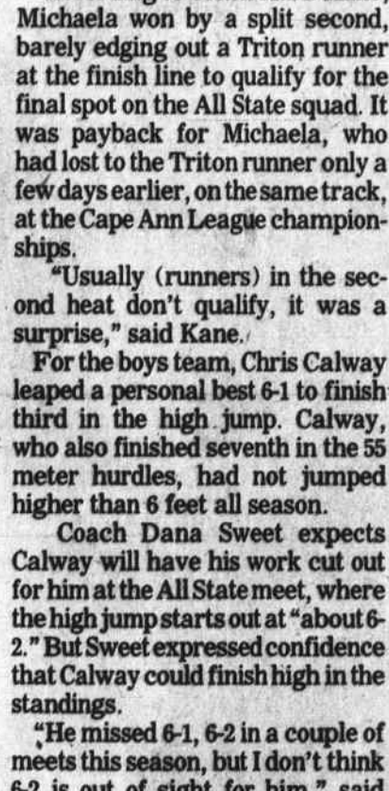

"Almost everyone finished higher than they were seeded," said Kane, "and this is the first time in a while that Wilmington had two girls go on to the All States in individual events."

Looking back at the season, Kane said she is please with her teams performance. They accomplished her preseason record of reversing last years 4-6 record, finishing this year at 6-4.

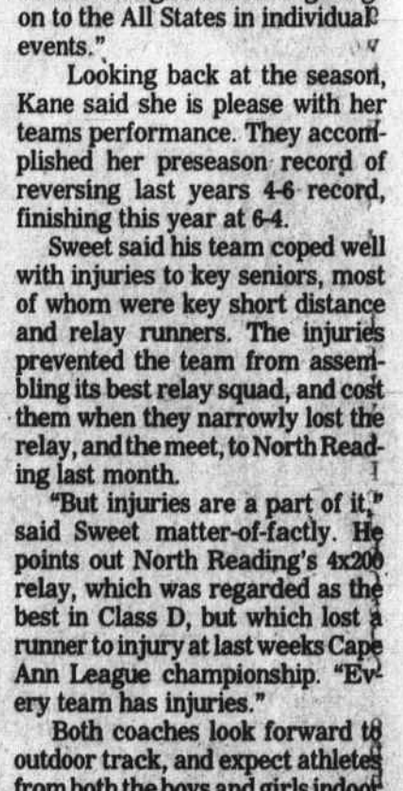

Sweet said his team coped well with injuries to key seniors, most of whom were key short distance and relay runners. The injuries prevented the team from assembling its best relay squad, and cost them when they narrowly lost the relay, and the meet, to North Reading last month.

"But injuries are a part of it," said Sweet matter-of-factly. He points out North Reading's 4x200 relay, which was regarded as the best in Class D, but which lost a runner to injury at last weeks Cape Ann League championship. "Every team has injuries."

Both coaches look forward to outdoor track, and expect athletes from both the boys and girls indoor teams to continue to improve. Calway, Gillespie and Rufo will compete in the All State championships at the Reggie Lewis Arena in Roxbury on Saturday.

'Cats erupt for 85 points in big win

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

A few weeks ago it looked like the ship has sunk when talking about the Wilmington High boys' basketball team. They had lost four in a row, weren't playing well while it was obvious the team was missing something.

Now a week later things are much better on the court for the Wildcats. Wilmington handed Georgetown an 85-61 thumping on Thursday night at WHS in a pivotal game for both teams. Wilmington needed to get back on track, play better and continue to win so they can climb up the ladder in the Division 3 state tournament seedings. Georgetown came into the game at 9-10, a win against Wilmington would qualify them for the state tournament.

That didn't happen. Instead Wilmington put up 85 points and played their best game of the season according to coach Jim McCune.

"It was our best game in a long time," said McCune, who saw his team improve to 13-6 on the season with the regular season finale on Wednesday at home against Tewksbury (10-9). "I'm hoping that wasn't our best game, but the kids played really, really well."

McCune said of the team combined for 25 assists ... and scored 31 field goals. They led 13-3, 21-18 and 33-25 at different parts of the first half before closing out the first 16 minutes ahead 48-33.

In the second half Wilmington really put the Royals away leading 75-44 at one point. McCune saw Valence Nwachukwu have his best game ever scoring 25 points, while chipping in with 7 assists and 6 rebounds. Eric Swiezynski had his normal night of 21 points, 11 rebounds, while Craig Osgood "got some life back" scoring 14 points. Mike Jordan added 9 points, while, David Aronofsky, Pat Taylor, Josh Howlett and Tim Riley combined for 16 points.

"Georgetown had won five straight and they were playing some good ball coming in. They came in gearing to beat us. They were a scrappy group who needed to win. We played fantastic. Defensively we were fine, we played man-to-man and we took away their dribble penetration. When you score 85 points you're going to give up more points because you give teams more possessions."

Wilmington really needs to beat Tewksbury on Wednesday. According to McCune if they do win, they will most likely get a ninth seed, or could get a eighth seed if BC High beats Savio Prep. If the 'Cats lose to Tewksbury, they would probably get a 10th or 11th seed, facing perhaps Newburyport or Swampscott. North Cambridge Catholic will be the top seed with their 7-0 foot center.

"Right now the feeling going into the tournament is great," said McCune. "The kids are playing loose, they are having fun and they are happy. They're excited and you need a happy team going into the tournament. The practices have been good and it's been a good atmosphere."

The team could play its first round state tournament by next Monday or Tuesday night. The pairings should be released by Friday.

Lady 'Cats face Melrose

Last Sunday brought another game and another win for the Wildcat 6"A" Girls Basketball team. The Cats hosted Melrose "Y" at the Wilmington High School and put on quite a show outscoring their opponents by 22.

This was the 7th consecutive league win where the Wildcats strong press and untiring defense has held the opponents' scoring average to less than 15 points per game.

The game was over early for Melrose Y with guards Dana Nolan and Samantha Canning (3 points) creating many early turnovers and assists to put Wilmington on top from the start. Kerri Stinson had another strong game for the Wildcats scoring six first half points to add the 20-point halftime lead. Christina Iaquinto took some beautiful outside shots and picked up two early first half points as well.

Forwards Jessica Harrington (2 points) and Kim Silvia (4 points) played tough at the position pulling down many rebounds and setting some nice picks for Wilmington. High scorer of the game was Stephanie Sauve who tossed in 10 points, making her the first Wildcat to pass the 100 point mark for the season. Christine Marques (2 points) and Taryn Martiniello (2 points) played many minutes at guard in the second half increasing Wilmington's lead with great defensive pressure and strong passing. Ashley Bruno (1 point) shared center duty with Ashley Vitale (2 points) in the second half, crashing the boards and keeping possession of the ball for the Wildcats. Katie Sullivan added four points to the tally and the Wildcats took the game with a score of 36-14.

The team wishes congratulations to Katie who earlier in the day picked up a big first place finish in round 2 of the K of C free throw contest, and will move on to the regional competition next month.

The Wildcats are anxious to finish out their regular season, and will take on a tough Peabody team next Sunday for the final game at 2:15 at the Wilmington High School.

Sixth grade boys face tough Tewksbury team

The Wilmington sixth grade boys basketball team split a pair of games last week to bring their season record to 23-3.

On Wednesday the Wildcats traveled to Tewksbury to play their cross town rival. Wilmington came out quickly taking an 11-0 lead as Tim Kent hit for four points and Pat Ryan threw in five of his game high 12 in the early going.

Tewksbury wasn't about to give up that easily. They fought back to make it a four point game midway through the first half. Great defense by Rich Barry and Kyle Borseti kept Tewksbury from closing the gap any further. Josh Mayo hit a couple of big free throws at the end of the half to give Wilmington a 24-19 lead.

Tewksbury came out flying in the second half as they sensed an upset in the making. The Wildcats would have none of that. Brendan DeMango and Dan Patterson hit a three pointer each and Greg Stewart added eight second half points. Mike Thomas and Nick Duggan controlled the boards at both ends of the court as Wilmington went on to post a 56-42 victory.

On Saturday, Wilmington hosted first place Haverhill at the Middle School. Haverhill jumped out to a quick 6-0 lead but the Wildcats battled back. Tough defense led to some great steals by the Wildcats. Josh Mayo hit for six of his 12 points off of steals and Greg Stewart chipped in with six first half points as well.

Rich Barry was all over the court on defense making a number of steals. Kyle Borseti remained hot from the free throw line going three for four at the end of the half as the Wildcats battled back to trail by only four at the half 25-21.

The Wildcats came out in the second half determined to pull off the upset. Dan Patterson, Nick Duggan and Brendan DeMango battled the bigger Hillies on the boards. Tim Kent played an excellent game at both ends of the court. Pat Ryan played his heart out the whole game.

Wilmington had their chances, but the ball just didn't bounce their way in the second half. The bigger Haverhill team eventually came out on top.

This week the boys will host Lowell on Saturday at the Middle School and then travel to Pelham on Sunday.

Squirt B's dust off Nashua

Wilmington Squirt B's traveled to Skate 3 for a Dual State makeup game against Nashua Squirt B and made easy work of them for a 7-1 victory. Mike Jensen got the Cats on the board midway through the period as he skated out of the corner and put one past the goalie. Justin Dirienzo scored two more before the end of the period as Casey Pickett found Justin out front for his first and Nick Riccio found Justin for his second putting the Cats up 3-0.

Justin notched the hat trick to open the second on a pretty feed from Casey. Mike Jensen scored his second of the day on a feed from Justin giving the Cats the 5-0 lead after two. The Cats utilized Kevin Fitzpatrick's talents in goal and Kevin produced with a solid effort allowing only one tally on the day. Kevin had three fine defensemen in front as the Cats were once again limited for players.

Evan Brennan, Steve Dunnett, and Jonathan Kincaid withstood the challenge and played great defense. The Panthers scored early in the third but Nick Riccio rounded out the scoring for the Cats with an unassisted goal and another from Casey at the buzzer for the 7-1 final.

Wilmington 5, Methuen 3

The Cats knew they were in for a tough game as they took on the first place Methuen B team in Dual State action. This was a battle from the opening face off until the buzzer at the end of the game. The Cats found themselves in the hole 1-0 after Methuen connected on a penalty shot early in the first period.

Nick Riccio was sprung loose with help from Justin Dirienzo and Kevin Creedon and followed up his own rebound to tie the game early in the second period.

The Rangers jumped back on top and added an insurance goal but the Cats came roaring back. Matt Stokes connected on a back handed shot from the right circle with helpers from Steven Dunnett and Justin and Steve Wamboldt tallied on a feed from Evan Brennan beating the goalie five hole with just eight ticks left in the second period.

With the game tied Mike Derosa went to work on the prettiest goal of the game. Mike skated up ice with the puck only to get his stick whacked out of his hands. Mike chased the puck, kicked it past the defender to Casey Pickett who found Nick Riccio in front of the net for what would be the game winner. This play by Mike Derosa showed just what a fierce competitor that he is never giving up on a play. Nick took a feed from Evan Brennan and beat the defense and the goalie for the insurance goal with just over eight minutes remaining.

The Cats successfully killed a five on three with four minutes left in the game and back to back penalties in the final two minutes to secure the 5-3 victory. Mike Cabral returned to action for the Cats and was unbeatable in the third period as the Rangers looked to get back in the game.

The Cats' defense was just as impressive with Jonathan Kincaid, Evan Brennan, Steve Dunnett and Mike Derosa held down the fort in front of Mike's net. The Cats put forth a super effort for two periods and were rewarded with the win.

Wilmington 11
Arlington 0

The Wilmington Squirt B team decided to spend their school vacation at the rink and entered the Baystate Hockey Tournament and easily disposed of their first opponent 11-0. The Cats displayed superior skating, puck control, and passing in the game. Mike Cabral was focused as he had to wait for the action to come his way but was sharp on all the shots he had to handle.

The defense was unbeatable with Evan Brennan, Jonathan Kincaid, Mike Derosa, and Matt Stokes keeping the Spyponders off the board. The Cats' offense was led by Nick Riccio with four goals and one assist; Mike Derosa with three goals and two assist; Mike Gautreau with one goal and two assists; Casey Pickett with one goal and two assists, Mike Jensen with two goals; Justin Dirienzo with two assists and Jonathan Kincaid with one assist.

If the Cats continue to play well, they will play themselves into the finals Friday in Brockton.

Rams Hoop look to playoffs

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

It took the Lady Rams basketball team most of the season to get to a point when head coach Bill Ritchie could say with confidence the Rams were deserving and capable of playing in the State Tournament.

However, after ending the season with a loss to Whittier and victories over Northeast and Chelsea, Ritchie believes the Lady Rams are ready for the postseason.

"It was like a light went on," said Ritchie of the difference in how the Rams are playing. "And it was like the kids suddenly understood what they had to do."

The change in the Rams' play came against Whittier Tech. The Rams lost the game 49-46.

The loss did not bother Ritchie however because he saw a team that played hard, played good defense, had crisp passes and never let down. In its previous game, the Rams defeated Rockport 36-26.

The victory was one of the ugliest games the Rams had played all season and it left Ritchie wondering if the Lady Rams deserved to go to the tournament.

"It was just an awful game," said Ritchie of the Rockport game. "I told the girls (afterwards) we do not deserve to be in the tournament.

"After the Whittier game, which was a great game, I told the team that this is what it is all about. And, now I think we are ready (for the tournament)."

Shawsheen and Whittier went back and forth trading baskets. Both teams brought its "A" game and the play was fast paced.

The Rams lost the game in the final seconds when a Whittier player hit a three pointer with nine seconds remaining.

"We beat Rockport and we played terribly," said Ritchie. "We lost to Whittier and I thought we played very good."

After the game, Ritchie was approached by one of the officials who said the Rams/Whittier game in the final three minutes was one of the best played games he had seen all year.

Sophomore Ashley Morgado played a strong game dishing the ball and played very well overall. Kristen Porfido (9 points) has "turned the corner" according to Ritchie and is playing really well.

The pivotal game for the Lady Rams and Ritchie came against Northeast. The Rams beat Northeast earlier in the year by nine points.

The victory was a disappointing win because the Lady Rams let Northeast back into a game that the Rams could have controlled from the opening whistle. At one point, the Rams led by as many 35 points, 46-11, before Northeast stormed back.

Ritchie and the Rams knew they could not let that happen this time if they were going to go into the tournament with any momentum and confidence.

"We cared about them (Northeast) the first time and they came back to haunt us," said Ritchie. "This time we just put it away."

The Rams were impressive the second time around against Northeast and won 69-19.

Morgado and senior Amanda Lauzon led the Rams with 19 points. Senior Karyn Antonelli added 14 points and Porfido chipped in with 12.

The Rams removed its press 8:00 into the contest when the score was 30-2. However, Shawsheen did not let up and kept Northeast at Bay.

The final regular season game came against Chelsea. In the first contest, Chelsea "whacked" Shawsheen around at home. The Rams lost the game 42-31.

The growth of the Rams and improvement of play was obvious this time around and the Lady Rams hung on to defeat Chelsea, 49-45 in triple overtime.

Chelsea, the top ranked team in Division 3, lost the game down the stretch in the third overtime because of timely free throws by the Rams.

Freshman Denise Lazzara and freshman Jen Elwell hit two free throws apiece and the Rams hit seven total in the final seconds to earn the hard fought victory.

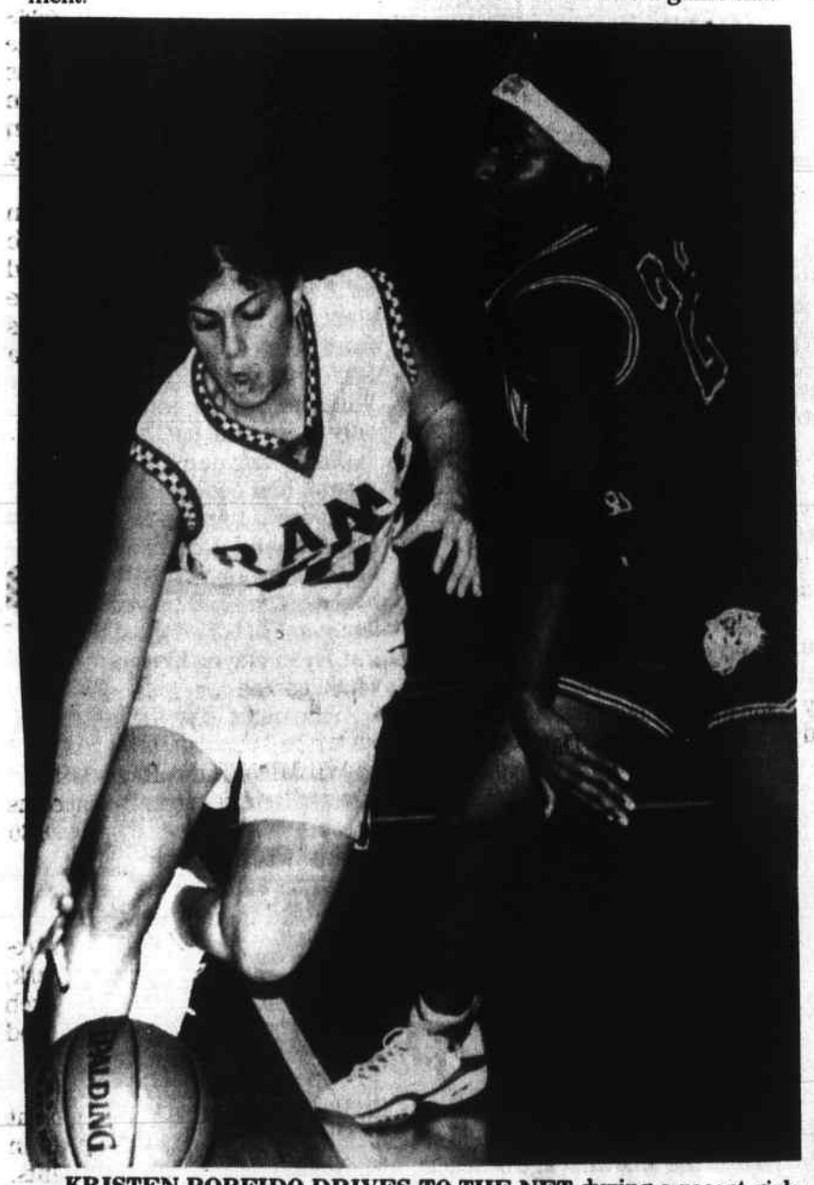

The game was tied 29-29 at the end of regulation, 33-33 after one overtime and 40-40 at the end of two overtime periods. The victory not only proved the Rams were capable of winning big games, it also showed they had come a long way from the beginning of the season.

Ritchie said, talking about the Lady Rams, "They are feeling pretty good right now."

It is still unclear who the Rams will play but it is likely they will host a first round game. Ritchie is confident if the Lady Rams put their minds to it, they can play with anyone.

However, Ritchie also understands with teams like Manchester and Lynn Tech as possible first round games, the road to a championship will be tough.

"It is a coin flip who we will play," said Ritchie. "This could be an in and out type of deal."

Boys Hoop character shows

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Rams' basketball team could have rolled over and quit at the halfway point of the 2000-2001 season with a record of 2-7. Instead, led by nine seniors, the Rams decided to turn its season around.

The Rams finished with a 9-11 record and went 7-4 over the final eleven games. Roger Bourgeois' team never quit and made a disappointing season one to remember.

"This is a team I am really going to remember," said Bourgeois. "We came from 2-7 and turned it around to finish 9-11. This team has a lot of character."

The Rams' ended the season as one of the hottest teams in the CAC by winning its final four games. The Rams won games over Lowell Catholic, Minuteman, Fellowship and Essex.

The first victory came against Lowell Catholic, 81-54. Junior Mark Stewart led the Rams with 25 points and was the star of the game.

In the opening minutes of the game, Stewart caught fire and scored the first 11 points for the Rams. The Rams went on to take an impressive, 40-18 lead into the half.

Bourgeois was excited by the fact the Rams led 11-2 and all the points came from Stewart.

Bourgeois said, "(Stewart) could not miss. The kids were looking for him. (Before you knew it), the score was 11-2, Stewart."

Bourgeois worked every rostered player into the game and everyone scored a point. Senior Chris Kerr added 12 points in the winning effort.

The Rams pulled off a tight victory against Minuteman, 72-65, to keep the winning streak alive.

The contest was close throughout but the Rams had the lead at the half, 37-24.

In the second half, despite the seniors leading the way, it was the juniors who stepped up when the game on the line.

In the final minutes of play and the Rams leading by five, Minuteman started fouling the Rams and putting them at the line. The three players who were fouled were juniors Jason Banusiewicz, Doug Ronan and Stewart.

Banusiewicz, Ronan and Stewart stepped up to the free throw line and nailed each and every shot to put the Rams on top for good.

"It was nice to see our juniors step up like that," said Bourgeois. "We expect those three to be key contributors next year."

Dickinson had 15 points in the game and Stewart finished with 19. Fancy added 15 points while Kerr chipped in with 11.

"The key was the foul shots down the stretch," said Bourgeois, adding, "That was the game."

The Rams dominated play against Essex. They led 42-20 at the half and 70-45 when the final buzzer sounded.

"We were in control the whole way," said Bourgeois. "The entire team played well."

Once again, Bourgeois worked each and every player onto the court. The players responded by all scoring at least one point. Senior Tom Matley led all scorers with 14 points. Kerr finished with 10.

"We grew as a team and became a team," said Bourgeois. "It is nice that your teammates can support each other."

With everyone contributing and playing, it was a total team effort in the victory.

Arguably the biggest win of the season came against Fellowship, 82-54. The victory knocked Fellowship out of the tournament and avenged a 10 point loss from earlier in the season.

The game was made even more significant because it was senior day.

Bourgeois started five seniors including Pat McLaughlin who had missed a lot of the season because of a broken jaw. McLaughlin scored 13 points in limited action.

"At the time (McLaughlin) got injured he was averaging double figures in the scoring and rebounding," said Bourgeois. "It was nice to see him able to come back and play on senior day. He played very well."

The Rams starting five helped pave the way for a lop-sided victory. Kerr scored 24 points and senior Dave Fancy (11 points), Stewart (10 points in first half) and senior Derek McLaren (18 points-seasons best) all had big games.

Senior Jim Dickinson was his usual defensive force grabbing 13 rebounds.

"We were ready to play," said Bourgeois. "We are graduating nine seniors so it was a sad day in that respect. I think the victory was a tribute to the parents' character and the character of their kids.

"A lot of them (seniors) could have quit and packed it in (when we were 2-7). This group never stopped working."

Dickinson and Stewart were named league All-Stars at the end of the season. Dickinson was named a first team All-Stars while Stewart is a part of the second team.

The Rams may have failed to make the tournament but Bourgeois is not dwelling on that fact. Instead, Bourgeois is holding his head high because he was proud to be a member of the 2000-2001 Rams' basketball team.

"It was like were all in this together," said Bourgeois. "The kids were expecting to have a good year so it was kind of disappointing the way we started.

"But we turned it around little by little. I am very proud of this team. I am sad the season is over."

"Sign-up" for Tewksbury youth baseball

Tewksbury Youth Baseball has kicked of its second annual "Sign Up For Baseball" campaign, which is the single largest fundraiser for the town's Little League program.

"Sign Up" provides an opportunity for local merchants to sponsor a sign for their business, which hang on the outfield fences at Poulin and Sullivan fields at the Little League complex on East Street.

Not only does the business gain the exposure to the parents and friends of the 1100 children in the program, but is an opportunity for the company to support the youth of the community which has helped make its business successful.

These signs, which are professionally designed and crafted by Gath Signs of Tewksbury, will carry the name and/or logo of the business and will hang from the second week of April through Labor Day weekend. In addition to the sign, the sponsor will be given a beautiful plaque to proudly display in their business showing they are a sponsor of Youth Baseball.

"It's a great opportunity for a company to get involved", says program co-chair Dan Kieran. "It is a very low cost per sponsorship, something almost any business can afford, which when added up is a terrific boost to the program.

"This campaign last year allowed us to recondition all of the equipment, which we hadn't been able to do in four years. It also allowed us to have summer and fall teams for more children than ever before. This program helped us tremendously last year and is a major factor in the quality of the program that Tewksbury Little League can offer to the youth of our community."

Jim Boudreau, owner of Jim Boudreau's Automotive Service Center has been a sponsor of Tewksbury Youth Baseball for several years and believes a lot of businesses would be very anxious to help support Youth Baseball if they had an opportunity.

"I feel that the sign shows a commitment to giving something back to the children of the community", says Boudreau. "I call this top of the mind advertising. The community supports my business and then I support them with a sign and donations to the youth groups. I feel the return is well worth the small investment in order to help the children in our community."

"By supporting Tewksbury Youth Baseball through their "Sign Up for Baseball" program, I believe this will yield great benefits for the children of our community", states Rick Pruyne, Senior Mortgage Officer for First Eastern Mortgage Corp.

"Not only will these funds assist in keeping a terrific program at a top level of achievement and enjoyment for our youth, but also emphasize how much the local business community cares about the safety and success of our kids future development.

Furthermore, if the community wishes to express its appreciation by supporting the contributing business, it creates a vibrant atmosphere on and off the ballfield for all involved."

"It's a positive thing to do for the kids," says League President an long time sponsor Attorney Fred Daley. "Not only as a businessman but as League president, being able to support Tewksbury Youth Baseball is a way of giving back to the community. Most importantly, it's a way of providing an opportunity for the children of this town to have an outstanding program. To me, it's a double winner."

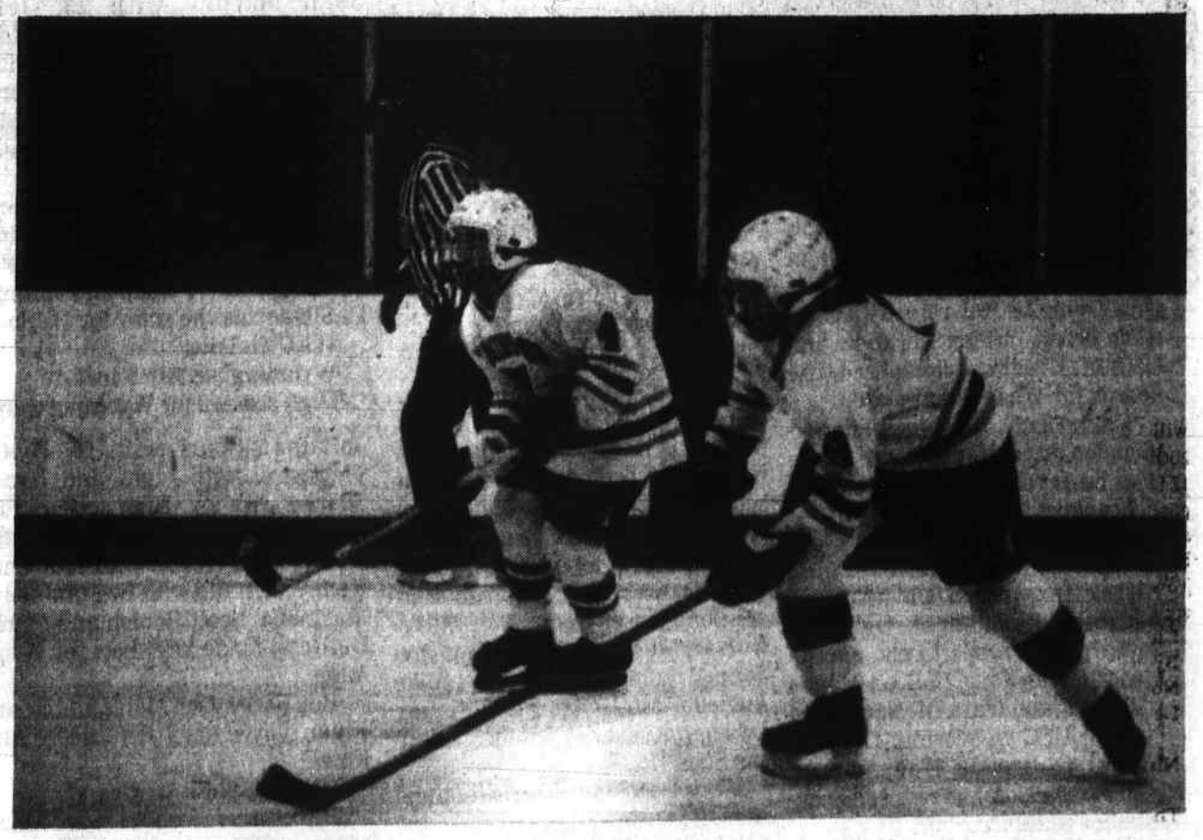

"Pride, community and support are a few words that co-chair Paul Petrie talks about when thinking of the "Sign Up For Baseball" program. The kids realize the support and commitment not only from the parents but local businesses as well. It is important to provide the children with the proper equipment and quality playing fields, the "|Sign Up For Baseball" program accomplishes this. It is fair to say that the Tewksbury Youth Baseball program has one of the best programs in the Merrimack Valley.

The cost of the sponsorship is relatively small, considering not only the return that each child will realize from this program but the amount of civic pride the sponsor will feel upon participating. The Sponsorship is $275 for the initial year which includes the sign and the plaque. After the first year, the renewal rate is only $185.

Tewksbury youth Baseball will store the signs during the winter so that they will be free from damage and the expected life of a sign is around 10 years. Since last year's program was a huge success and there are many returning sponsors, space is limited so interested merchants or groups should contact one of the co-chairs as soon as possible to reserve a space for this season. Sponsorship in the "Sign Up for Baseball" program can be obtained by contacting any of the three co-chairs: Dan Kieran at 658-4856; Paul Petrie at 640-0120; Lou Cobuccio at 858-0424

Tewksbury Pee Wee B's take two

The Tewksbury PeeWee B team sponsored by Jim Boudreau Automotive located at 2184 Main Street faced the Concord Capitals twice in 4 days, both times coming out on top.

The first game was an even match, with lots of heads up play. The score remained 0-0 up until the second period when Leo Keefe took a nice pass from Patrick Devito. Leo used a bit of finesse and a fast backhand to pop the puck over the sprawled goalie. CJ Walsh played strong and demonstrated his patented "pick it out of the air" glove save over and over as the Capitals tried to put one by CJ. Kyle Stevenson and Katie Stokes both fired hard shots from the point, but were denied.

Chris Mugford, standing in on defense, played hard and kept the corners clear of any of the Capital's forwards. Tim Dooley, Jeremy Booth and Matt Danecki played the body and worked the puck in the offensive zone. Joe DeMaio skated like the wind and kept the Capitals from entering the Tewksbury zone too often with his backchecking.

The score remained 1-0 until there was only 4 minutes left in the third. CJ Walsh made another brilliant save when Peter Staneiech, Anthony Moccia, and Christian Murray went on the attack. Christian and Peter brought the puck through the Capitals defense and fired the puc into the Capitals zone. Anthony Moccia slid a Peter Staneiech rebound in under the goalie to bring the score to 2-0.

The Capital's coach then decided to live a bit dangerously by pulling their goalie and taking the man advantage for over 2 minutes with a strong Tewksbury team holding the line for the win 2-0.

The Redmen once again faced the Capitals, this time it was more of a battle. Tewksbury was down 2 players and the Capitals drew first blood mid-way through the first period. CJ Walsh picked himself up and shut down the opponents after that. Anthony Moccia picked up the pace and chased down the puck to set up some great plays.

After a Tewksbury penalty was called Tim Dooley, Matt Danecki and Katie Stokes killed it with several blocked shots and an icing or two. Patrick Devito started off the second period with a smooth breakaway only to be denied. On a Tewksbury power-play Peter Staneiech, Anthony Moccia and Patrick Devito battled in front of the net. Peter took a straight pass from Brendan Cottreau and let a smooth backhand glide between the goalie's legs to tie the score 1-1. Within a minute Tewksbury posted another score on a "5 car pile-up" in front of the Capital's goalie.

Leo Keefe knocked the puck in with a little help from Anthony Moccia and Katie Stokes. Defensemen Joe DeMaio and Kyle Stevenson stepped up the pace and brok up several Capital attempts. Brendan Cottreau and Katie Stokes peppered the Capital goalie with shots from the point, but the post was the "goalies friend" today.

Several great shots were unfulfilled as the distinct ping of rubber hitting metal was heard. Patrick Devito then began an onslaught of several breakaways, only to be injured as he was taken out of the play by Capital defensemen. Kyle Stevenson held firm on defense as Leo Keefe, Christian Murray and Anthony Moccia put on the offensive pressure. Tim Dooley, Peter Staneiech and Matt Danecki skated hard and Katie Stokes, Kyle Stevenson, Joe DeMaio and Brendan Cottreau held firm to keep the win by a score of 2-1.

Fifth graders score in playoffs

The Tewksbury 5th Grade Travel Team continues to roll along towards th playoffs with a hard fought win over Wakefield in a non-league game.

The previous meeting between the two teams had Tewksbury winning in romp, but not this time, as Wakefield came ready to play and gave the Redmen all that they could handle before Tewksbury finally put them awa in the waning seconds to win by a score of 59-54. Corey Ryser continue to light it up for the home team, scoring 15 points and stopping Wakefield's attack with some hard-nosed defense. Tommy Joyce had points to go along with his usual play-making and scrappy defense, whil Justin Torname added 7 points and Samir Shah and Mike Ferriero had apiece. The boards were controlled by Travis Ianetta, Vinny DePierro Eric Medina, and Justin Berquist, with some key rebounds and putbacks.

Brian Morrison added 3 points along with some great defensive stops. Patrick Devlin continues to support the team with his presence every game as he recovers from a wrist injury. The team is anxiously looking forward to his return in time for the playoffs.

Mite A's lose, 5-1

On Saturday, February 17, the Tewksbury Mite A hockey team, sponsored by East Coast Irrigation, lost to Billerica 5-1.

Nicholas Rose scored Tewksbury's lone goal.

CHYNA™

THE 9TH WONDER OF THE WORLD

By MIA CARTER

Who can draw thousands of enthusiastic fans from throughout New England, to stand in line for hours on a Saturday morning, simply to catch a glimpse and an autograph? Chyna - "The Ninth Wonder of the World."

At 5 foot ten, 200 pounds, this World Wrestling Federation (WWF) superstar recently graced the Boston area with her presence, at her recent book signing in the Woburn Mall.

"I'm living in a man's world, which is filled with stereotypes and preconceptions. I think you can see by reading my book that I've had a very difficult, tumultuous life and I think I have a very inspirational story," explained Chyna, a.k.a. Joanie Laurer, in an exclusive interview.

Laurer's autobiography, "If They Only Knew", takes readers on a colorful journey, beginning with her past and traveling into the present world of the woman who blazed a trail into the sport of professional wrestling.

"A typical day in my life? There isn't one! I get very limited amounts of sleep and I really focus on keeping my body in tune. My body is definitely my life and my career," said Laurer, who currently resides "right over the border in New Hampshire."

"I was just recently in the Boston area - I love it. I actually just saw the Phantom of the Opera and it was incredible," said Laurer, who is no stranger to the area.

What drove this wrestling superstar to share her story?

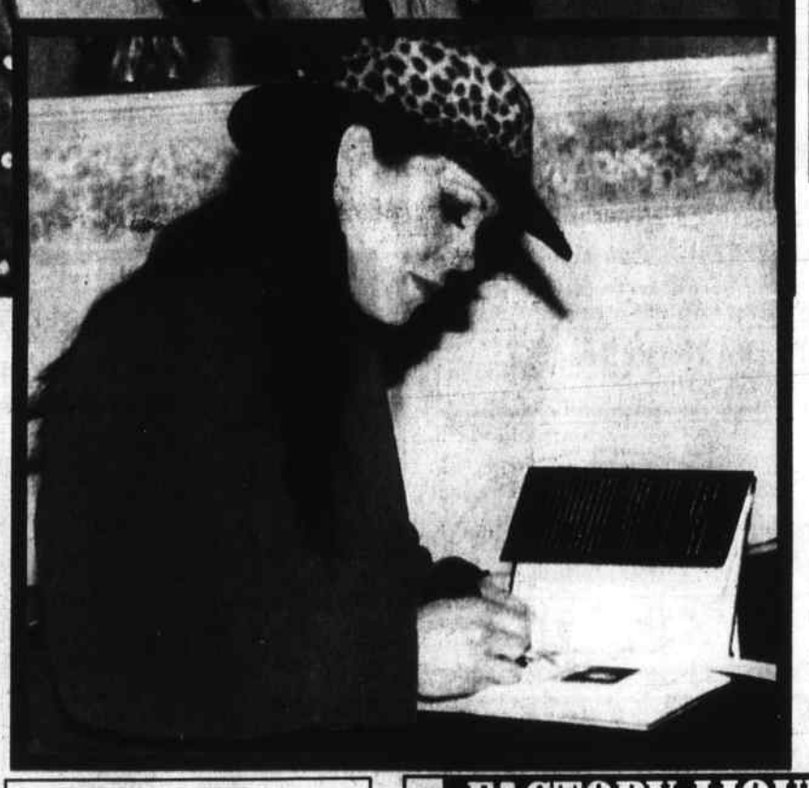

"It made me mad that I had to fight so hard to get to the top. What's presented to the world through my character, Chyna, is someone completely different from who I am," said Laurer. "I didn't want to write my story in character...it took me over a year and a half to write it. At first I was worried that I couldn't write an entire book about myself, but once I got started, I realized that I could have written a book three times as long!"

Born and raised in Rochester, New York, Laurer colorfully illustrates her troubled family life, her struggles with bulimia, and her search for a life direction, which eventually landed her in the sport of wrestling.

On her way to being the first woman ever to hold the intercontinental Championship title, Laurer traveled a diversified path and held myriad positions, including a pager sales position in Lowell, belly dancing in Tewksbury, and she even inter-

CHYNA to S-4

During it's first week on bookshelves, Chyna's book "If They Only Knew" (Harper Collins) has hit the number three spot on the New York Times best-seller list. To the right, Chyna is pictured signing her autobiography for a fan. Thousands flocked to the Paperback Booksmith in Woburn (top right photo), where the wrestling superstar appeared over the past weekend. Her story is a fascinating one of struggle, anguish and finally success (KAP photos)

My father shouted, "what the heck are we going to walk on?" The house was built and occupied by Bootleggers. The Foundation is STONED the WALLS are PLASTERED and the WINDOWS have a GLAZED look. But my family members have been HAPPY there for years, especially at NIGHT when the MOONSHINES over our heads.

Kathy gave up on a Banana reducing diet. She didn't lose any weight BUT WOW! can she climb a tree. She is now on a seafood diet, every time "She-SEES" food she starts eating.

I wonder if the Hilton Hotel owners buy the, Learning Tower of Pisa if they would call it, "THE TILT in HILTON."

Sonny Pearlman told me that the Postal Service has successfully crossed a "Carrier Pigeon with a "Woodpecker." The result is a BIRD that not only delivers the mail BUT knocks your door when it gets there.

My friend Harry DeFrietas has a Bumper Sticker on his BMW that says, "Buy American Love it or Leave it! Harry buys, Brazilian Coffee, English Muffins, French Toast, German Baloney, Italian Sausages and Polish Kielbasa.

My Uncle John Shea's daily welcome "the top of the morning to you and the REST of the day to me-self!" I came home from the newspaper office and Kathy handed me a letter saying, "Here Fatso this letter is for "YOU" and I steamed it OPEN by MISTAKE."

Richie Gillis said, "if you're afraid to FAIL, you'll never succeed."

"Much Ado About Nothing"

Shakespeare in Reading? The Quannapowitt Players, located at 55 Hopkins Street, has taken on one of the Bard's most popular comedies, Much Ado About Nothing. It is not too late to catch this wonderful timeless story which deals with issues that are as relevant today as they were when the play was first performed - love intrigue, deception.

Director Harold Bond of Reading has assembled a terrific cast and Diane Lind of Reading has gathered a super production team consisting of a superb stage management team of John Cipolaro and Marlene Phillips, authentic costumes designed by Patricia Kane of Concord, dramatic lighting designed by Marilyn Wales of Leominster, a simple and striking set design by Ruth Neeman, and makeup and hair design by Marc Capizzi.

Mr. Bond spent his career teaching English and Drama in the Reading School system, with particular attention to Shakespeare. He has leant his expertise to bring this wonderful story to life right here on Hopkins Street in Reading.

There are still tickets left for the final two weekends. Performances are Fridays and Saturdays, February 23 and 24 at 8 pm. For tickets, call 781-942-2212.

On the map: past, present and future

by Phyllis Nissen

On the move in Stoneham

"Stoneham's Sweetser House is America's only Greek Revival mobile home - next stop: the corner of Franklin Street and Dale Court," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"'I think this is going to work out,' said owner Richard Johnson, a developer from Arlington who specializes in historical home renovation.

"The Sweetser House was built in 1841 on the lot eventually numbered 434 Main St. across from the Public Library. The house didn't budge until December of 1999 when it was lifted off its foundation and carted to a spot between the apartment buildings of 50 and 60 Franklin Street. By next summer, the home will sit at 90 Franklin St., if all goes as planned. But so far almost nothing has gone as planned in the effort to save the classic home from demolition.

"'I can't imagine anyone opposing this move,' Johnson said.

"Johnson bought the house and land at 90 Franklin St. last week. He planned to demolish the old house and pour a new foundation in January (weather permitting), which he hopes will be the final resting place for a renovated Sweetser House. The I-shaped addition at the rear of the Sweetser will not make the move. This section will be demolished within the month, Johnson said.

"Admiral Home Movers of Manchester, N.H. will move the house up Franklin Street. The last move cost more than $50,000, and the total cost of renovating the home will be at least $500,000, Johnson said.

"'This is not for profit; it's his hobby, said Johnson's attorney Steven Cicatelli.

"'It's a real passion,' Johnson added.

"Johnson accepted the home as a gift from Joe Cunningham of Cunningham Construction of Stoneham in the summer of 1999. Cunningham was renovating the old Maynard Moore Shoe Factory for the Bloomberg family owners, and the Sweetser House was to become a parking lot. Johnson, in exchange for a free house, agreed to pay to move the house off the site. He planned to renovate the home and rent out the space as three apartments. Johnson moved the house to property he owns at 50-60 Franklin Street, but he was unable to secure the necessary variances to keep the house on that property. Neighbors convinced the Board of Appeals in February of 2000 that the 10,000 square-foot area between the two 18-unit apartment buildings was too small to stick a three-unit house into.

"'It just doesn't fit,' Board of Appeals Chairman Chuck DeCoste said at the time, after hearing comments from the Carlinos of Fuller Street and the Lecceses of Pine Street among others.

"Once again, demolition loomed. Johnson's permit to store the house at 50-60 Franklin St. expired in October, but the town has allowed Johnson some leeway to coordinate the move to 90 Franklin Street.

"All along the Historical Commission has applauded Johnson's efforts to save the home...."

Here and there in Wilmington

"Ever wanted to show someone all that Wilmington has to offer?" notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"You do not need wait anymore because the all-new 2000 Street Map of Wilmington, Massachusetts has arrived.

"The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce coordinated the brochure to reflect current information about the town, including a map of the area, the history of the community, a listing of local businesses and much more.

"The chamber produces a new map every other year, but this year is special because it is celebrating its fortieth year serving the community.

"Chamber Board President Susan Riley says that the organization's staff spent a lot of time and effort to showcase this commemorative occasion.

"The 2000 edition has two new features. Not only is there a new community map showing you where to go in Wilmington, but all of the pictures are in color too, giving you an up close and personal touch to what you will see in the community.

"'The pictures show the real beauty of Wilmington. They are absolutely gorgeous,' Riley said.

"There are more than thirty photos featured throughout the map, and they were taken by local citizens. The chamber started a photo contest last February to find local photographers who would like to submit their work. They found nineteen local photographers who were interested. Chamber Executive Director Sandy Murphy says that all of the pictures submitted were great and capture Wilmington's picturesque attractions.

"All individuals who submitted a picture were invited to the chamber's recent holiday celebration, where they received a certificate acknowledging the appreciation for entering the contest and for submitting such excellent clips that show the beauty of Wilmington throughout all four seasons.

"'For most of these people, photography is their hobby,' Murphy explains. 'It's something they really enjoy, and now their work is published.'

"Most of the photos are showcased on the information section of the map. Under each photo is the description of the picture, along with the name of the photographer who shot it.

"The chamber and the staff at the Town Hall collaborated on the information section of the map to get all of the statistics viewed with the Secret Service for over a year.

Laurer also holds a degree in Spanish Literature, which she obtained after only two years of study at the University of Tampa.

"I've gotten some very strange reactions to the book - all positive. I've seen young girls brought to tears and I've also been approached by quite a few adult women who have told me 'I really understand where you're coming from...I can completely relate,' and I think that's the best. It really makes you feel like a human being," explained Laurer, who has met a great deal of adversity as a result of her unusual appearance.

"For the longest time I had a hard time accepting my appearance," said Laurer. "I've always been very muscular and I was never exposed to other women who looked like me. Eventually, I learned that once you start to come to terms with who you are, you basically have it licked. Once accepted myself and my appearance, it made life so much easier."

Notably, Laurer's biceps have an approximate circumference of 14 inches, which makes lifting and tossing) her 300-pound colleagues appear incredibly simple.

As part of her mission to show the world a "different type of beauty," Laurer appeared in a recent issue of Playboy Magazine.

"I think I got very tired of displaying one type of woman to the world. I decided I wanted to show society that there's more than just one type of beauty," commented Laurer. She continued on to say, "That was the number one selling issue of all-time! And it was funny because when I did the promotional signings, I would say about 40 percent of those who showed up were women! That's not exactly what you'd expect when you show up to promote a men's magazine."

And how have Laurer's predominantly male colleagues respond to her photo spread?

"They kind of looked at me funny for a couple of days, but that was about it. They're all very proud of me and they always provide me with a great deal of support and respect," explained Laurer.

So what does the future hold for Laurer and her character, Chyna?

"I see the WWF as a great platform to show the world a different type of strong, beautiful women. At some point, I really want to bridge over to film, and maybe cosmetics as well," Laurer added.

In her book, she writes, "...there is one place I'm no longer afraid of - being in front of a mirror. For most of my life I have been showing one face to the world and living with another, conflicted and hidden. And that's not entirely fixed yet. But for once I can look at myself and see someone smiling back. And I am smiling."

DENTAL HEALTH FOR CATS
Most feline health problems involve the teeth and gums. These can include gum disease, broken teeth, tooth lesions, plaque-related inflammation and oral cancer.
When healthy, a cat will have white teeth and pink or coral-colored gums with no bleeding or swelling.
Cat owners can protect their pets from dental disease and tartar build-up by starting preventative care during the kitten stage. Massage the teeth and gums regularly with a gauze-wrapped finger at first, then upgrade to a cat-specific toothbrush and toothpaste.
Check your cat's mouth regularly and keep up with vet visits. The vet will perform a thorough cleaning each year.
Signs of dental disease can include appetite loss, drooling, bloody saliva, blood around the mouth and bad breath.
P.S. Bad breath can also signal kidney disease, so report any changes to the vet.
Part of your cat's annual visit to us includes the checking of teeth and gums. Should there be a problem, we cannot only clean the teeth, but also provide tooth extraction. Appointments are available by calling us at:

BLACK HISTORY MONTH EXHIBIT

Lowell and its role in the Underground Railroad is the subject of a special exhibit at the Lowell National Historical Park Visitor Center. The exhibit. sponsored by the Park and by the Center for Lowell History, will be at the Center throughout the month of February which is Black History Month. The exhibit features the role of Lowell in the business of slavery, the movement for abolition, and the passage to freedom for many African-Americans.

In the 1840s and 1850s Lowell seemed an unlikely place for stations on the Underground Railroad. However, this busy city with its small African American community, anti-slavery societies, and good route to Canada provided a good location. The number of slaves that passed through Lowell on their way to freedom will never be fully known.

For more information about this exhibit or free programs during Black History Month, contact Lowell National Historical Park at 978-970-5000 or visit www.nps.gov/lowe.

Scleroderma: A puzzling disease affecting the skin

To doctors, scleroderma is a complex and puzzling disease. Its cause is unknown and there is no cure. It can appear in numerous forms, with symptoms that may resemble other diseases. It often takes years to accurately diagnose.

To those who have scleroderma, it is a devastating, painful, crippling and sometimes life-threatening disorder. More than 80 percent of the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have scleroderma are women between the ages of 25 and 55 years old.

Many experts believe that there are many thousands more coping with symptoms who have not yet been diagnosed. Once diagnosed, however, people with scleroderma can only look forward to symptomatic relief, as there is no known cure. Scleroderma (from the Greek words "sclero," meaning "hard," and "derma," meaning "Skin") manifests itself in two forms: localized scleroderma, affecting skin and underlying tissue, and systemic scleroderma, also known as systemic scleroderma (SSc), a potentially life-threatening disease that attacks internal organs such as the esophagus, heart, lungs and kidneys, as well as the skin.

Scleroderma attacks the body's connective tissue, and it is generally associated with the over-production of collagen, the fibrous substance that makes up most of the protein in connective tissue. Excess collagen thickens and hardens the affected organ systems and interferes with normal organ function. The effects can range from pain and disfigurement to life threatening organ failure.

Symptoms may include swellings, hardening and thickening of the skin, blood vessel spasm with severe discomfort in the fingers and toes, weight loss, joint pain, swallowing difficulties, non-healing ulcerations on the fingertips and extreme fatigue. In its more advanced forms, scleroderma can prevent patients from performing even the simplest tasks.

MOVIE REVIEWS

BY PAUL FEELY

"Saving Silverman"

MOVIE: "SAVING SILVERMAN"
GRADE: **

Review: This movie is just the latest teen comedy to take advantage of the success of 'American Pie' star Jason Biggs, that cannot achieve the same level of laughs as that hit

Biggs stars as Darren Silverman, who sings in a Neil Diamond tribute band with his buddies, played by Jack Black (whose comic talents are underused here) and Steve Zahn. Silverman meets and begins dating Judith, a psychologist who realizes she can turn Darren into her little man puppet, and orders that he give up Diamond and his friends forever. His buddies take it upon themselves to try and save him from this female impersonation of evil itself, and the plot is off and running.

Some jokes work, and a cameo appearance by Diamond himself is funny, but overall too many jokes fall flat.

SHORTTAKES
MOVIE: "HANNIBAL"
GRADE: ***

Review: This sequel to the popular 'Silence of the Lambs' finds Anthony Hopkins returning to the role he made famous, that of Dr. Hannibal 'the cannibal' Lecter

Julianne Moore takes over for Jodie Foster as Clarice Starling, an FBI agent that Lecter has a soft spot for. The plotline introduces Mason Verger, a very wealthy but disfigured man who was the only victim of Lecter's to survive an attack thus far. He has put out his own reward for the doctor's capture.

The plot focuses more on Hannibal's exploits than the mental chess game between Foster and Lecter that featured so prominently in 'Lambs', and this installment is much more gory than that film. The relationship between the characters loses something because if this, as does the movie. The ending is not for the squeamish.

MOVIE: "VALENTINE"
GRADE: **

Review: This slasher flick does nothing to raise the bar of this particular genre, ala 'Scream'.

The plot revolves around a group of high schoolers who are slowly getting picked off one by one, in the usual creative killing styles, by a killer wearing a Cherub mask (if that plot sounds familiar, it's because its the same as any of the endless stream of slasher flicks made in the 1980s). There are enough suspects to keep you guessing, but that aspect isn't enough to save the film.

Denise Richards is good as an elitist leader of the group of friends that start dying in mysterious ways, playing a character very similar to her role in 'Wild Things'.

MOVIE: "SUGAR AND SPICE"
GRADE: **

Review: This by-the-numbers comedy is yet another poor choice of roles for Mena Suvari, the cheerleader temptress from 'American Beauty'.

The plotline follows a group of high school girls who decide to rob banks for extra money The dialogue is funny at times, as are the site gags, but this movie was made for one reason only - because producers had a hunch that one half of the population would like to watch a group of girls in next to nothing running around with guns. A rental for sure, but save your money until then.

MOVIE: "TRAFFIC"
GRADE: ****

Review: Steven Soderbergh, the director of 'Erin Brockovich', turns in his second top-notch film of the year with this honest, accurate depiction of the often futile war on the illegal drug trade.

A strong ensemble cast consisting of heavy-hitters like Michael Douglas, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Don Cheadle, Dennis Quaid, and others show that the world of illegal drugs is like a hydra - no matter how many heads you cut off in the fight to kill it, more will grow in their place. Cheadle is excellent as a cop trying to take down a cartel in California, while Douglas has a strong turn as the country's new drug czar who can't even keep drugs out of his own house, after his daughter begins experimenting with cocaine and alcohol.

Soderbergh uses the interesting technique of differentiating between lights and colors to separate the different storylines, which run parallel to each other without the characters knowingly crossing paths. The movie doesn't have a happy ending, either, which further drives home the message that the war is far from being won.

Art all around us in North Reading and Reading

"Local artist Pamela Giarratana exhibited several of her paintings nationally and locally," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Giarratana, of Angel Rd. studied at the Massachusetts College of Art, Pittsburgh Center for the Arts, and has also participated in numerous artists' workshops. Entering shows nationally, her work has been accepted at the juried show, Viewpoint 2000 in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is a member of the Reading Art Association, the North Shore Art Association and the National Association of Women Artists.

"Over 90 artist members represent surrounding towns and cities in the Reading Art Association. Artwork includes oil, watercolor, acrylic and pastel paintings, sculpture and photography.

School Notes

Getting better all the time

'Outstanding dedication' in North Reading

"The School Committee approved a salary increase, a contract extension and more vacation days for Superintendent Dr. David Troughton," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"The committee unanimously approved the contract changes, which include a three percent pay hike that will bring Troughton's salary from $104,000 to $107,139 in the 2001 and 2002 school year.

"Troughton has been at the helm of the town's public schools since 1994, when he was hired at $77,000 to replace retiring Superintendent Dr. Francis X. O'Donoghue.

"Committee chair Nancy Sardella spoke of Troughton's 'outstanding dedication and commitment to the children of North Reading' prior to announcing the pay raise.

"She pointed out the three percent increase is in line with the pay hikes approved for other school department employees when their contracts were negotiated.

"The committee also extended Troughton's contract for one year, which will make it effective through the year 2003. In return, Troughton agreed to give six months notice if he decides to leave his North Reading post.

"Troughton said he was pleased with the agreement.

"The number of vacation days the superintendent receives annually was increased by five going from 25 to 30 days. Sardella said the vacation time is in line with what other administrators in the system receive.

"The superintendent's contract doesn't include specific salary increases and so is reviewed annually by the School Committee for that purpose.

"Sardella said a decision on the pay hike was made this month so the funds could be included in the next year's school budget...."

'Educational Excellence' in Winchester

"The School Committee accepted with gratitude grants from the Winchester Foundation for Educational Excellence," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Diane Brewster and Louise Sawyer presented 25 grant recommendations, totaling $31,230. Brewster said that a decision on two further grants has been deferred until further information has been gathered.

"Grants included: a study of inventors and inventions for Ambrose; a digital camera and printer for Lincoln; an after-school science club at Muraco; an educational garden at Vinson-Owen; a World Pen Pals program at Lynch; writing and illustrating a children's book on watershed education and multicultural musical instruments at McCall; and a literary and arts magazine, Renaissance music and dance, and purchase of a digital function generator at the high school, as well as two teacher workshops.

"Sawyer thanked the community, Brewster, and the grants committee...."

Keeping fit in Stoneham

"The President's challenge is a battery of five tests measuring strength, flexibility, agility and cardiovascular endurance," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The Robin Hood students who scored 85 percent or better on each test and thereby earned Presidential Fitness Awards are Ryan Carino, Kevin Silva, Michael Martignetti, Melissa Zeitlin, Frankie Annuniziata, Alexandra Cockfield, Alyssa Kotowski, Michael Cocuzzo, Claire Dapkiewicz, Tiffany Fontaine, Sandra MacDonald, Matthew Veazie, Caroline Carrns, Robert Merrow, Kathryn Swanson, Samantha Garofano, Maxwell Kheboian, Carolyn Kotowski, Jessica Muolo, Christina O'Donnell, Erin Woodbury, Eric Buckley, Charlene Cashman, Brittany Nardone, Luis Nova, Matthew Trakimas, Joshua Westfall, Sean Brennan, Nicholas D'Alfonso, Dustin Feldman, Jason Molle, Steven Piro and Sarah Rohrig."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

This week's SAMPLER-No. Reading

There are still some bargains

This week's sampler truly reflects pride of ownership throughout and is one of the few homes in North Reading that has a million dollar view with 2.3 acres. Enjoy the magnificent color splendor of the tranquil and picturesque Ipswich River during any season of the year through the atrium door at your dining table or from the many oversized windows overlooking the scenic yard. What's more, this wonderful home was designed to take full advantage of the wonders of nature all around it and is bright and sunny year round, as it has wonderful southern exposure. Hidden underneath the season's cool white snowfall is an abundant array of Mother Nature's beauty. Gardeners and non-gardeners alike will admire the many beautiful gardens bursting with color and varied texture during the warmer months.

This warmly decorated home makes one feel "at home" upon entering the oversized family room through the side entrance. Here you will see the tasteful decor and pride of ownership and feel like kicking off your shoes to relax after a long day. The family room is open to a beautiful newer fully applianced oak cabinet eat-in kitchen with atrium door leading to a pressure treated rear deck. Both living areas have plenty of recessed lighting. Also, on the first level, there is an updated and tastefully decorated full bathroom with newer ceramic tile floor, a conveniently located first floor laundry, and a bright and sunny front to back sun-drenched living room. Newer neutral colored Berber rugs have also been installed on the lower level and on the stairs leading to the second level.

Lots of work has been done to this home

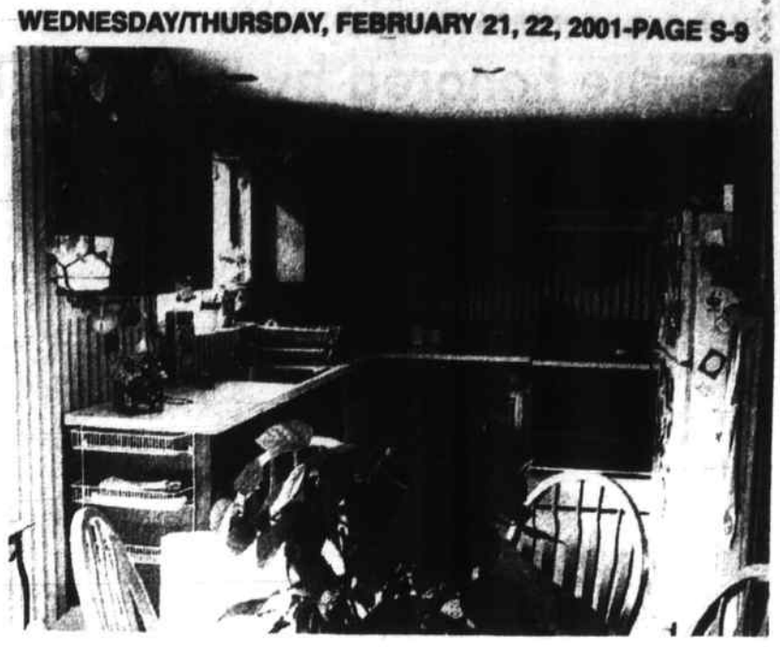

THE EAT-IN KITCHEN opens up to include the family room and also is just steps to the oversized deck out the glass atrium doors.

The second level boasts of a wonderful oversized master suite with half bath and room to expand to a full bath. There is a walk-in closet and an additional closet. Again, views of the Ipswich can be enjoyed from the restful sitting area. There are two additional good size bedrooms and an office on this level. The office could potentially be turned into an additional full bath, as the plumbing has been brought up to the second level and is located in the adjoining wall.

This is truly a home that is in move-in condition, as all of the major work has been done. For example, the fuel efficient heating system is less than two years old and the electrical service has been updated to circuit breakers. The exterior of the home has been recently painted and the septic system, which is only eight years old, has recently been pumped, inspected and is Title V certified. Most of the many windows in this home have also been replaced. Additionally there is an installed security system for your safety and a wall air conditioner in the dining area for your comfort. This home is conveniently located close to the popular Ipswich River Park, town schools, and North Reading's town center, and is only minutes to routes 128 and 93.

This property is currently being offered for sale by Nancy Doherty at Century 21 Spindler and O'Neil in North Reading for $259,000 and can be seen by calling 978-664-1094 or 781-944-2100.

A CLOSE-UP VIEW of the kitchen's oak cabinets and modern design with cabinets that do not quite touch the ceiling leaving room for those charming and collectible items.
